

THE NITTANY CUB

Volume XIV—No. 5

BEHREND CAMPUS—The Pennsylvania State University

Monday, December 3, 1962

CUBS SHOCK JOHNSTOWN IN 88 TO 80 THRILLER

The Behrend Campus Nittany Cubs pulled a shocking 88 to 80 upset over perennial powerhouse Johnstown Junior College Saturday afternoon and set the stage for perhaps the most optimistic basketball outlook in Behrend history. Using a fast break and a man to man attack, the Cubs led the surprised Johnnies at halftime, 43 to 40, and then put them to rout in the final few minutes of play. Jim "the Hands" Golembeski and Jack "the Hustler" Bohman tallied 28 and 22 points respectively, and Sam Heller added another 19 for good measure.

At 5'6" Bohman hardly seems to have the height for college basketball. But what Jack lacks in height he makes up in hustle. His sparkling pumpers and fantastic fast breaking drivers kept the Cubs constantly in the momentum that eventually spelled victory. Golembeski, with those marvelous hands and tremendous ball control, is at long last the "big man" Coach Gallagher has been looking for. Jim pumped sixteen of his twenty-eight total in the second half and kept a pressure on Johnstown she could never overcome. And his spectacular drives and layups kept the crowd roaring throughout the game.

The victory evened the Cubs record at one and one. Friday night at Jamestown they lost a dull affair to the tall Muskies, 65 to 44. Despite Jim Golembeski's twenty-three points, Behrend failed to show any sign of an offensive capability reaching the eighty-eight points it did less than twenty-four hours later. The Cubs unquestionably had stage fright. They tallied only two goals during the entire first half and limped into the dressing room at halftime trailing by a disappointing 26 to 12. Only when they switched to a quicker paced man to man did the chilly blood start moving and the baskets start coming. But the lead the Muskies had gained in the first twenty minutes was too big for the Cubs to overcome, and the christening of the new Community College gymnasium was a rather large success.

The Cubs are back on the road this weekend and the two games they play before the holidays loom very important indeed. Altoona and Dubois Campuses supply the opposition tonight and tomorrow night. Altoona, Dubois, Johnstown, Point Park, and Behrend all go together to comprise the Western

(Continued on Page 3)

Behrend Will See Many Changes Over Vacation

The face of Behrend will have undergone extensive plastic surgery by the time that students resume classes after their Christmas vacation.

Changes will be made in four of the campus' buildings during the December 6-January 7, vacation period. Included among these buildings are the library, Turnbull Hall, Erie Hall, and the administration building.

Most thorough revamping is and has been for some time underway in Turnbull Hall. The second floor of this building will become the new home of the Behrend Campus' library. All new furniture and shelving has been purchased and is being installed. The offices of Miss Margaret Schumacher, librarian, will be located at the south end of the new library.

The first floor of the building is being transformed into a new cafeteria with a capacity for more than twice the number of students that the present cafeteria can seat. The dining area itself will be located in the northern half of the new cafeteria.

A kitchen, complete with all new equipment and steam tables, is being constructed in the southeast corner of the building. Food storage space will occupy the opposite, southwest corner.

With the removal of the library from its present location, a new, quiet study lounge will be open to student use in that building.

No definite plans have yet been approved for the area left vacant by the removal of the cafeteria from the administration building. It has been suggested, however, that the space will probably be used as a study area for the dorm girls.

Erie Hall will also undergo several changes. Under an SGA-submitted plan, layout of the basement recreation area will be given considerable revamping. Relocation of ping-pong and pool tables and the purchase of several new pieces of furniture by the SGA highlight the changes being made in this building. The pool table will also be thoroughly repaired and new balls and cues purchased.

fer of credit is involved since the student will be registered at Penn State while he is abroad. A Penn State Faculty member

(Continued on Page 2)

These two scenes of the second floor of Turnbull Hall are indicative of the changes being made during the Christmas vacation.

Overseas Study Programs Offer A Unique Education

Two unique programs are now available to Penn State students who wish to expand their knowledge of the culture of a country or region of the world by living and studying abroad. The Study Abroad Program of the College of Liberal Arts is open to all Full-time undergraduate students of The Pennsylvania State University with at least fourth term standing, regardless of college or curriculum.

The first program, Elective Study Abroad, provides for group study at the University of Cologne (Germany) or the University of Strasbourg (France). A program in a Spanish speaking country is being developed and may be available for 1963. The elective study program comprises one ten-week term each spring and consist of courses in the humanities and social sciences acceptable for Penn State elective credit. These courses will be taught in English, usually by foreign professors, and will focus upon pertinent aspects of the history, and the social, political economic, and educational systems of the country in which the program is located. Students will also be expected to include foreign language study in their program.

The elective study program has been arranged in such a way that a student's graduation from Penn State will not be delayed. All course work will be completed abroad and no problem of trans-

The editors and staff of the NITTANY CUB would like to take this opportunity to wish the student body, the faculty, the administration, and the entire staff of the Behrend Campus a happy and healthy holiday season.

May your Christmas be a joyous and memorable one, and the New Year gay and trouble-free. We sincerely hope and look forward to seeing every one of you again during the coming term. Until then, have a safe, sane, satisfying vacation.

Bob Ropelewski, Editor