

CUBS DROP OPENER

By Mel Ross

On Saturday, April 27, Behrend's baseball outlook was temporarily dimmed when the Cubs succumbed to a 22-2 shellacking by the visiting Penn State Frosh. The boys from the mother campus blasted four Behrend pitchers for 14 hits, 9 walks, and 22 runs; while the hustling Cubs could only garner 7 hits, 5 walks, and 2 runs against three State chuckers.

The fireworks began early in the game as the Frosh got their first Sample (Bill, that is) of our mound corps. They managed to collect 10 runs with 5 hits, 4 walks, and 3 Behrend miscues; before Bill could retire the side. In the Behrend half of the first inning, Doug Prozan led off with a single but was stranded as Rhine took things in "hand" and retired the side—striking out the third and fourth batters.

Sample settled down in the next three innings, as did his defense, and shackled the Lion stickers with a big curve, allowing only one hit in the second, third, and fourth innings. Meanwhile the Cubs attempting to peel Rhine, collected a hit in the third and two more in the fourth which produced a run. In that fourth inning Howard Estock opened the frame with a walk and reached second on a passed ball. Clean-up hitter "Wally" Larson then advanced Estock to third with a grounder to second baseman McClure. Estock then came home on a single to center by Cub third-baseman Mel Ross. Sample tried to help his own cause by singling to center, but both he and Ross were left on base as Rhine proceeded to strike out the next two batters.

Penn State chalked up 5 more runs off Sample, but were not yet satisfied as they added 6 more off Horst Hesse in the sixth and seventh innings, and one final run off Willi Schickhaus. Tom Apke closed the door on the Lions without allowing any hits or runs in the ninth.

Behrend had to be content until the ninth inning before another Cub run could cross the plate. Tom Gallagher, pinch hitting for Apke, walked and reached second on a passed ball. Prozan then grounded to the pitcher, Schiff, who threw the ball into right field as Gallagher raced home. Schiff then settled down and put down the Cub uprising to end the game.

One oddity of the three-hour contest was that in the first inning the Cubs could have blanked the Frosh without a run, but erratic defense with two outs led to the Lions' 10 runs—9 of which were unearned. If the Cubs can solve the old bugaboo of the opponents' big first inning, they should be a rough team to beat.

Scholarship

Paul Brown, a liberal arts student at Behrend has received one of four scholarships to University Park awarded by the Penn State Alumni, class of 1942, it was announced by Benjamin Lane, dean of student affairs at Behrend.

Brown, 19, of 817 E. Gore Rd., is the only Behrend student to receive an alumni scholarship.

The award was based on high scholastic achievement.

(Three other students, enrolled at University Park or a Penn State campus, were awarded scholarships by the class of 1942.)

Brown will enter the main campus of the Pennsylvania State University next fall following completion of two years of work toward his baccalaureate degree at Behrend.

He is a member of the campus student government and a dean's list student.

Dean Lane announced at the same time that a total of $13,000 in student aid has been distributed among approximately 45 Behrend students.

A Penn State Big Brother takes a vicious cut at one of Bill Sample's fast balls in the season opener two weeks ago. On the next pitch the slugger slammed a bases-loaded triple and Behrend went on to defeat, 22-2.

CHESSMEN COP CROWN, RETAIN CHAMPIONSHIP

Doug Ray, Ed Paauwe, and Ron Feltenberger brush up on their chess strategy just prior to winning the championship at University Park Saturday. Doctor Robert Bernreuter will present the trophy to Behrend May 18 at the O.S.G.A. Conference.

The Behrend Campus Chessmen of Ed Paauwe, Doug Ray, and Ron Feltenberger won their second straight Commonwealth Campus Chess Championship Friday and Saturday when they defeated Southeastern champion York, 3-0, and Pocono champ Hazleton, 1-0-2, in the playoffs at University Park.

As a result, Behrend wins the Robert Bernreuter Chess Award again this year and needs only one more championship to retain it for good.

Doug Ray led the Cub attack in the weekend think contest as he won two games and lost none. Ed Paauwe and Ron Feltenberger had a little trouble with Hazleton Saturday morning, but an opening victory followed by two stalemates brought Behrend the coveted championship.

Saturday, May 18, during the final business meeting of the OSGA Conference here at Behrend, Doctor Robert Bernreuter, Special Assistant to President Walker, will present the championship trophies to the campuses winning laurels in chess, bowling, and ping-pong.

Merry-Go-Round

Thursday afternoon in a Glenwood doubleheader with Buffalo's Bryant-Stratton, the Cubs ran into some formidable pitching and dropped games number two and three of the season by scores of 13-5, and 14-1. The second game was an abbreviated five-inning affair.

Bill Sample, Willi Schickhaus, and Tom Apke all saw service in the first game. Horst Hesse, Apke, and Mel Ross hurled the second. Control was the big problem for all the Behrend pitchers as they walked eight men in the first game and a staggering total of fourteen in the five-inning second. In addition, they hit three batsmen and intermittently spiced the afternoon with frequent wild pitches. But it was not all the pitchers' fault that the team fared so poorly. Although the scorebook says the team committed only seven errors, other mental errors entered into the picture as Buffalo had three four-run innings in the first game and a six-run frolic in the second.

Nevertheless, there were a few bright spots again Thursday afternoon. Mel Ross, third baseman by trade, looked surprisingly good in his short stint, a desperation move by Coach Gallagher when the flood gates were open. Ross struck out two of the first three men he faced. Bill Sample added a couple goose eggs to the Buffalo line score before his control gave way. And in the hitting department, Sam Heller slammed out three hits on the day to lead the Cubs. Doug Prozan, Bill Sample, Bob Vicander, Mel Ross and Howie Estock also had hits.

Behrend's next encounter is with a sharp Altoona nine which just last weekend gave the Penn State Frosh a close shave. After the Altoona game Friday, the Cubs play State again Saturday afternoon at University Park.

Behrend's Heroines Shown No Gratitude

Poor Mary Shine and Beverly Thomas! It seems that no one will believe the story of their heroic rescue of a Great Dane from the pool. Of course they didn't do this alone; they were assisted by a Saint Bernard, or so they claim.

It seems that Mary and Beverly were awakened on the morning of May 1 by the frantic barks of a Saint Bernard whose friend had just fallen into the pool. Being 6:45 a.m., the girls were clad only in pajamas as they ran out to rescue what they thought was a poor little puppy. What a surprise it was to discover that the puppy was an immense Great Dane! So, each girl grabbed a leg and pulled.

Finally, they managed to pull out the dog only to have the ingrate shake water off onto them and go off with his pal. And he didn't even thank them!

Survey

(Continued from Page 1) tercollegiate activities include soccer, baseball, and even a rifle team (Mont Alto). Several campuses reported intramural sports, something missing on the Behrend Campus. Ogontz reported the most extensive intramural program with touch football, girls' field hockey, basketball, water-polo, ping-pong, chess, tennis, softball, volleyball, bowling, and golf.

In summation, Behrend Campus, although ranking third in total student enrollment of the twelve campuses who cooperated in the survey, seems to rate first in facilities for student activities. The question of student interest and participation is another question.

evening, an "Open House" was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Robert T. Oliver. Dr. Oliver is the head of The Department of Speech at The Pennsylvania State University.

ART SPRINGS AT SPRING ARTS

The USG's Cultural Committee at State will sponsor a Spring Arts Festival which will be held the weekend of May 24.

The program will take place from 7 to 9 p.m. Sunday, May 26. An outdoor stage, orchestra shell, colored lighting effects and a public address system will be in operation for the performance.

Three performers or groups from each category to be included in the program—classical or contemporary music—will be selected to appear in the Artists Series.

Classical arts such as chamber music, classical piano, madrigal choruses, vocal and instrumental solos will be expressed in the program's first segment.

The second will include such contemporary arts as folk-singing, jazz groups, jazz piano, interpretive dance and contemporary vocal and instrumental solos.

Queen

the Queen.

Behrend students and their families can help Mary to win this contest by buying their tickets to the Sesquicentennial production from Mary or from Miss Sorze in the administration building.

Tickets are $1.50—a saving of 50 cents over regular prices.

In addition to Mary and the other Queen candidates, Jack Parr, outstanding television personality, and Jim Bishop, author and syndicated columnist for the New York Times, will be present at the stadium for the production.

Four Attend Reading Meet

The Fifteenth Pennsylvania Intercollegiate Interpretive Reading Festival was recently held April 25 and 26, 1963, in the HUB at University Park. The festival was jointly sponsored by The University Readers, The Department of Speech, the Oral Interpretation Classes, and The Pennsylvania State University. Representing Behrend Campus were: Linda Brewslow, Patricia Coggeshall, Betty Richard, Bob Williams, and their advisor Mrs. Nyla Falkenhagen of Behrend's Speech Department.

Of the three general categories, Poetry, Drama, and Prose, the Behrend delegation contributed in the first two. As a group, they read selected poems taken from Rumer Godden's "Prayers from Noah's Ark." For the dramatic reading, Betty Richard and Bob Williams read the scene between a captive Christian slave and the Roman Captain found in Bernard Shaw's Androcles and the Lion. The highlight of the festival was the banquet held in the Terrace Room of the HUB at which Professor Joseph F. Smith spoke on "The Miracle of Language" and presented several selected readings. Professor Smith, from the University of Hawaii, is considered to be among the world's top six interpretive readers. Besides speaking at the banquet, Dr. Smith supplied critiques at the end of each reading session. Following the last session Thursday
