

ROTC Course Offered Students

The ROTC Vitalization Act on 1964 has made it possible for Junior college students to enter an advanced training course and compete for career assignments as officers in the United States Air Force, even though they have not taken the standard Air Force ROTC program. This new program allows juniors in a four-year college course to substitute a six-week field training course for the two years of basic ROTC normally taken the freshman and sophomore years.

To qualify, one must pass an Air Force Officer Qualifying Test, have a medical examination, go through an interview with Air Force Officials and complete the Field Training Course.

If interested in this new opportunity, contact Lt. Col. James L. Peightel, Professor of Aerospace Studies, at Allegheny College, Meadville, Pennsylvania.

SPRING SPRINGS A FALSE ALARM

The balmy weather of the past week which would be a pure indication of spring in any other part of the United States, proved to be a false alarm as the Erie snowflakes began to fall.

Many of us were already thinking "spring." We could practically envision the leaves on the trees and the flowers struggling to break through the earth's surface. We could almost hear the birds winging their way back north and the laughter from lifted spirits as the dull, bleak winter faded away.

A glance at the hill and the sun played tricks with our senses. We saw blankets spread all over the hill on which students were reading, studying, conversing, or strumming a tune and singing along. We heard the dancing laughter of trickling water as the stream in the gorge began to swell from melting snow.

As we smelled the freshness of the approaching season, as we gave thought to the happiness we will know when it comes, all past discontentments and anxieties gave way to a momentary air of lightness and expectations.

Copies Sought

The Behrend Campus Library is searching for several back copies of the Nittany Cub which are missing from the library's collection. These papers, most of which are from the years 1959, 1960, and 1961, are wanted for the Penn State collection at the Fred Lewis Pattee Library at University Park.

Girls Are Kept on Toes

Late one Saturday night, about 12:45 to be exact, everything was fairly quiet at the dorm. Five minutes later the fire alarm went off. Of course at that time in the morning no one expects a fire drill—not even the dorm girls!

Needless to say everyone filed out in an orderly fashion. Rollers, cold cream, pajamas, and bulky winter coats seemed to be the most popular attire. After about fifteen minutes, the all-clear signal was given and everyone filed back into the dorm and to bed.

Saturday morning dawned clear and cold and very early. The one day out of the week when almost everyone likes to sleep in. Yes, at 7:30 the alarm rang again. After realizing it was not a school day and that the ringing in our ears was not imaginative we headed for the great outdoors.

For a while all kinds of rumors circulated throughout the dorm as to the sudden rash of fire drills. Among the more interesting ones were: Auric Goldfinger was involved in a furtive plot to undermine the dorm, the Boston Strangler was trying to lure the girls into the open or some mysterious ghost was up to his old tricks again.

Frank Polimene, the newly elected District Governor for Division 1 of Northwestern Pennsylvania is from the Circle K Club of Behrend. He attended the International Winter Board meeting Saturday, February 6, in Philadelphia.

Circle K, sponsorer of this year's Winter Carnival, wishes to thank the faculty and students who participated in the Winter Carnival activities.

Dorm Requires a Good Knowledge of Numbers

My room-mates, 1230-64-01, 8939-64-03, 7653-64-09, 6184-64-01, 5318-64-03 and I, 4353-64-05, arrived at college anticipating big things. We didn't realize on 9-20-64 how big the numbers would be!

1230-64-01 and 5318-64-03 share bunk R-71519, 8939-64-03 and 6184-64-01 share bunk R-71516, 4353-64-05 and 7653-64-09's bunk lost its number. Our bedroom nightstand, R-61858, sits between 2 windows; chairs R-90685 and R-90696 sits on opposite sides of the room. Door 231 opens off our bedroom onto the sunporch.

Dorm Doings

We couldn't wait for Behrend's snows, and now can't wait until it goes. What is it, girls? Will Spring ever come?

Every year isn't leap year, what about it, fellas? We adore our roommates, but we're tired of dating them. And where were YOU when the fire bell rang?

A collect call can be placed anywhere, but the White House prefers a letter, as we found out!

Stand in line, hold your cup, the pop machine will not give up! Where has the popcorn popper popped off to? Could 007 solve the case of the mysteriously disappearing record player? The Beehive can't. It's a soggy situation!

Early to bed, early to rise, makes a girl healthy, wealthy and Four A.M. is too early.
