

RIP RETIRES

Rip Engle, the man who coached the Nittany Lions for an overall 104-43-4 record in sixteen years, recently announced his retirement as football coach. The "Silver Eagle," in stepping down, will be succeeded by Joe Paterno who came to State from Brown with Engle in 1950.

"My years at Penn State have been particularly good to me," he said. "Sixteen years with the same coaches through success and failure, tension and disappointment, joy and sorrow bring a group very close together. My greatest hope is for their continued success at Penn State."

It is likely that success will continue with Paterno as coach. Joe Paterno was a quarterback for three years under Engle at Brown. When Rip moved he came also to assume the position of backfield coach; recently he was associate coach.

Rip Engle served as president of the American Football Coaches Association during his tenure at State, and is yet a member of the NCAA Football Rules Committee. His teams thrice won the Lambert Trophy, the symbol of the top football team in the East, and played in for bowl games, never having a losing season.

His retirement does not mean, however, that he is going to break off completely from football. Rip plans on staying with the East-West Shrine committee which selects players for the annual post-season San Francisco classic.

Penn State will long remember her "Silver Eagle."

NOTE

Those going to State College next week-end (especially jazz enthusiasts) may be interested in hearing Ramsey Lewis and his Trio Saturday evening, March 5. Their appearance is being sponsored by the University Park Jazz Club.

CAMPUS CAPERS

Winter does something ridiculous to a campus; the people usually become as "cold" as the snow. But we at Behrend have overcome that "winter curse," or have we? Dean Lane congratulated SGA and the student body for undertaking the task of raising money. As he said, most campuses would be afraid to even ask their students to help! But we are helping! The pledges so far have been great, and the dance on March 4 should be sensational. By the way, the name of the band playing for the jammy is "The Sensations!" Congrats, everyone, on showing you really do care. Or, as Steve would say, "Do you care?"

If you remember, at the beginning of the year, money was collected for the class gift fund (of course, money was collected for everything at that time!!). Anyway, SGA is wondering whether or not you might like to use this money for the building fund drive. Since SGA is wondering, they're going to let you decide! Next Monday everyone (we hope) will vote on this. Everyone vote, okay?

In case you didn't know, the brandy sniffers are now on sale for $1.00. They're really great--I mean, there's nothing like having your own engraved snifter to take to Kelly's!

Next Tuesday during Common Hour St. Benedict's Choir will sing at Behrend. Promises to be excellent. (SGA is even re-scheduling their meeting because of this!)

Belated congratulations to Barb Heintz, queen of the Winter Carnival.

Well, these are some of the things we have done to overcome the "coldness" of winter. Have fun skiing! See y'all next week.

REMEMBER!
