BASKETBALL

Sporting an overall 5-1 record and enjoying a four-game winning streak, the Behrend cagers also have their greatest start ever, according to Coach Roger Sweeting. The coach attributes much of this to good balance on the first string squad. Joe Williams and Ron Hornyak have both been averaging about twenty points per game. Barney Edsel, Tom Taylor and Howie McGregor have all been averaging between eleven and sixteen points per game.

Victory at DuBois

The last two wins have been against the DuBois Campus of Penn State and the Warren Campus of Edinboro State College. In the former on December 17, a new all-time scoring record was set for the Cubs with their 136-78 win.

With ten minutes left in the last period, the Cubs reached a score of 100. Then the additional 36 were racked up by the substitutes who finished the game. Bruce Rinehart, who tallied fifteen points as a substitute in that game, made the record-setting basket. Coach Sweeting points out, coincidentally, that he also scored the record-breaking point in the first game this year against the Venango Campus of Clarion State College, when the previous high had been 115.

With six players in double figures for that game, Barney Edsel was high-scorer with 27 points.

Warren Team Bows

Two days later, December 19, the Cubs won over the cagers of the Warren Campus of Edinboro State College, with a final score of 90-64. High-scorer Joe Williams sank 25 baskets in that game.

The highlight of that game came in the second half. Scoring seventeen points themselves, the Behrend cagers held the Warren team scoreless for the first six and one-half minutes of the half to break the game open.

3 Players Lost

Unfortunately, term grades have taken their toll on the basketball team, as in other organizations. The team is losing three members. But this loss will be partially made up by Randy Iachowski, and important on last year's starting string, who has once again become eligible for play.

Home Games Scheduled

The Behrend team has a tight schedule this week, but they will all be home games. Tomorrow night they face the team from the Venango Campus
