

Circle K, cont. from 5

At this point, Circle K would like to salute its new member - Dwight T. Cobler, who was "voted in" by Kangaroo Court. Welcome, Dwight! Any potential member may still join for the second semester, Jan to May, by attending the regular meetings Monday at 5:00 p.m. in room 121.

PARKING PROBLEM

All dirty thoughts and wisecracks aside, there really is a student parking problem at Behrend. Gary Baran observed at the last S.G.A. meeting that students may not park a car on campus even for one or two days during a term unless they have purchased a $7.50 parking sticker.

As the parking regulations are, one must pay $7.50 per term for the privilege of fighting for any available space during the daytime. And if one tries to park an unregistered car for a day, he is fined $10.00

Visitors do not need to pay this fine, but Behrend students do.

Baran felt that there should be a moderate daily parking fee of $.50 or so for students who seldom bring cars to school.

S.G.A. approved the idea, and it will be brought up soon in front of the Student Affairs Committee.

SPORTS

by Paul Wilson

One of the biggest things on campus the last three months participationwise, has been the intramural basketball league, organized and conducted by Coaches Sweeting and Onorato. Close to seventy students and ten members of the faculty participated this past season.

All players participating showed great interest in that not one game during the season was forfeited due to lack of players. The competition was keen and all took pride in their team and its record.

Although the scores were usually low, the closeness of the team caused some real thrillers with the victor sneaking away with a one or two point decision.

The season was concluded this year with a tournament, the top four teams participating.

Intramural volleyball is next on the agenda. Teams may be picked up with between eight and ten players and the games will be played during common hour of Thursday and Tuesday. If you are not already on a roster, talk to Coach Sweeting or Onorato and there may be an opening.

BCABC

The Behrend Campus Booster Club headed by Coach Ed Onorato is having a drive to extend its reaches out of Behrend and recruit affiliate members. All the Booster Club members have been given two tickets apiece to promote varsity basketball.

The Cubs suffered their second defeat in 17 starts at the hands of Jamestown Community College by a score of 99-98. The "Muskie" were red hot from the floor. Leading by three at intermission in this close battle, the Cubs were outscored in the second half by four, Jamestown had its best showing of the season this victory.
