

EXAMPLE: BEHREND SPIRIT

Although many of you do not know it, the Jazz Carnival and Homecoming was held last weekend. It was not, however, a weekend of which Behrend students can be proud. Behrend students again held true to their old stereotype of being apathetic, disinterested, and unenthusiastic. To an outside observer, the average BC student would probably be labeled a dead-head and a do-nothing. The only thing for which this campus is noted is B.S...All talk and no action.

Last weekend the SGA tried to put over something new and entirely different (that's a feat for this campus). As a result of disorganization which was not entirely the fault of the SGA, the venture bombed out. This failure is due to the fact that the students do not back their Student Gov't Association. The carnival was an idea that needed the help and cooperation of every student: yet not more than a handful of students felt it necessary to show their faces here over the weekend. If the carnival had been a success, Behrend would have received a little public acclaim, but our campus is forced to sink back into oblivion.

In the past, it has been the favorite past-time of students to use the SGA as a scapegoat for the failures that take place here. It is time that the blame for these failures be placed where it belongs--on each and every student who does not lift a finger to support campus projects.

Friday night, there was a jazz concert by a fine group in Erie Hall. There were barely 50 students out of 600 present. This situation was shameful and embarrassing. The turnout for the soccer game on Saturday was a repeat of Friday night. Most of the onlookers were adults and not students. The Homecoming Dance was the only successful event of the weekend. Over a hundred couples showed up, the majority of which were freshman. There are almost 200 sophs attending this school. Where were they Saturday night? There is no reason why there can't be a bigger turnout for events on this campus. If you are not willing to take an active interest and become a part of this campus, then-- why are you here???

EDITORIAL POLICY

In the past several issues of the Nittany Cub there have been numerous editorials, and these editorials have been strongly opinionated. There are approximately 600 students on Campus. The staff of the Nittany Cub finds it hard to believe that everybody on campus agrees with these editorials. The Cub is again encouraging you, the student body, to state your opinion in the form of Letters to the Editor.

CORRECTION ON SGA

Printed in last week's issue of the Cub was an article "S.G.A. Elections". In this article the Cub called for action by the Student Affairs Committee on a new constitution for the SGA. The responsibility of writing a constitution rests on the present "SGA" not the Student Affairs Committee as was printed. Our apologies.

ERIC PHILHARMONIC

The Erie Philharmonic opened the 1967-68 Concert Season last Monday, October 16 with a reportedly first-rate performance under the excellent direction of Mr. John Gosling. Tickets for the remaining seven scheduled concerts are available to Behrend students, FREE, in the Student Affairs Office. There are only ten tickets to each concert, therefore, they are on a first come first serve basis. Don't let these tickets go to waste!!!

U-DAY PLANS

Plans being made for All University Day are at a standstill. The Behrend Campus is having difficulty in securing tickets for both the football game and the concert.
