AAUP meeting: What did it DO ???

For the purpose of evaluating Sunday evening's meeting, a Kirkley: random survey was taken on cam-Exactly what was accombus: Would plished at the meeting? be worthwhile to continue it discussion? this type of open Can any major changes be Effected by this informal group? Below are some of the comments received not only from those who attended but also from a few who didn't.

Student: It was a good gripe session. It cleared up the mysterý of who was responsible for what and stopping what.

It accomplished alot Hannah: We found out who the adminissaw their faces tration was. though maybe we didn't catch We should offer their names. to accept only what we offer. Caldwell: We should allow them recreate rather than re-create I can't come to everything out here. I can't make it here on even with two Sundays, weeks notice.

- Aitken: Something is accomplished just by two people sitt
 - ing down and talking to each other.
- Spielman: Nothing gets accomp lished in chaos. Therefore, there was minimal accomplishment. The meeting did give everyone a chance to let of f
- steam. Future meetings must be structured because most of the faculty won't put up with the confusion.
- Gehrlein: I will be at the next one. My goal is compatibility of all students, not as commuters or dormies, but as Behrendites.working as one for good of all. It didn't accomplish anything. The probblems that existed when we went in still exist. But it did instill, in the Dorm and Council a new spirit hope.
