

Introduction To Student Services Committee

What is the Student Services Committee?

Eight faculty members and four students - that is the Student Services Committee. The four students, two dorm students and two commuters, were not chosen at random by the faculty members on the committee.

The committee is headed by Miss Doherty who was the committee's chairman last year also. The committee itself is made up of the following faculty members: Roger Sweeting, Charles Springer, Wilbert Gesler, M. Ellis Grove, Jeffrey Steinbrink, Stephen Cohen, Frank Sansone, and ex-officio member Assistant Dean Peterson. The four students are: Dormies-Bill Chisolm and Denise Muia and commuters-Dianne Nowosielski and Lorin Blakeslee.

These twelve people advise and make suggestions. They have no "power" to speak of. The committee can listen to complaints or suggestions, make new ones, and then recommend these suggestions through the proper channels for actions. They cannot pass any rules or have any enforced, they can only suggest that action be taken where action is needed.

Speaking with the chairman of the committee, Miss Doherty, we find things that have either been suggested, accomplished, or rejected in the past two years. They are: new advising system (accomplished), health services-nurses 16 hours a day (accomplished), university car for driving students to doctor or hospital (rejected), 24-hour Security Patrol-next term (accomplished), more vending machines (accomplished), cars on campus for dormies (accomplished), changes in some of the dorm equipment (some accomplished, and below-grade system change (accomplished).

The committee is open for suggestions and wants every student to have a say. If one has any complaints or suggestions, he should notify any of the members of the committee.
