The Wyoming Senate has amended a proposed constitutional amendment giving 19 year-olds the right to vote—but only, in the case of men, if they don't have long hair.

While mentioning nothing about the length of women's hair the amendment provides that hair-cuts of youths 19 and 20 must conform to militant standards.

"When you accept the responsibility of a citizen, you should look lide a citizen, said Democrat J.W. Myers of Evanston.
