FALL ELECTIONS

The third week of this term marks the fall elections of the Student Government Association. Approximately twenty SGA members, nine dorm representatives and eleven off-campus representatives will be selected by the Behrend student body. At the same time, one candidate shall be chosen to be the general student representative on the Student Affairs Committee. This is a very special position as our Student Affairs Committee oversees all student action at Behrend Campus.

Petitions for prospective candidates for these positions may be obtained either in the SGA office or at the Union Desk. Pick yours up now... deadline Monday, October 6.

STUDENT JUDICIARY

Applications for appointment to the Student Judiciary may be obtained soon in the SGA office. Applicants must have at least second term standing and have maintained at least a 2.0 average.

Villa Maria to Hold Awareness Weekend

A film, "No Vietnamese Ever Called Me Nigger", will highlight the Friday session of Awareness Weekend, sponsored by the Villa Maria College Student Government. The program, to be held in the gymnasium, will commence at 7:00 p. m. with the movie beginning at 8:15. A panel discussion will follow.

Saturday's activities will begin at 2 p. m. with a panel discussion "In White America" led by Father John Foux of St. Michael's Parish of Erie. At 3:30, slides and a talk "Visit to South Side of Chicago" will be presented by Brother Leon Abbey, S.V.D.

Saturday evening at 7 p. m., Harold Gains, professor of sociology at Cuyahoga College, will speak on "Social Change of the Negro."

A soul band will provide entertainment from 9 p. m. to midnight. Mass, celebrated by Father Blaise McInterney, Villa College Chaplain, in the South Dorm Chapel, will complete the activities.

Kochel Welcomes Freshmen Students to Behrend

Irvin H. Kochel, Director of the Behrend Campus, welcomed the incoming freshmen to Behrend Monday morning with a speech given in Erie Hall. Mr. Kochel touched on some of the things that the freshmen should know about Behrend. In part, Mr. Kochel stated:

You are now at that point in your development referred to by the philosopher Whitehead as the moment when the adventure of thought meets the adventure of action. As you undertake the responsibility of life while expanding your education through the added experience, reflection, and further formal study, you will share the burdens involved with all other educated men and women throughout the world. This shared responsibility is one which transcends barriers of space, time, creed and race. Out of this relationship comes zest for that larger understanding which leads forward to a better life for all.

You have come to college at a time when almost all the structures of our society are undergoing change. The advances made in the world over the last 50 years exceed the advances of the last 5,000 years.

Today's University has been drawn into the mainstream of life. As such it has been called upon to serve government, commerce, industry, health institutions, welfare and the arts. As such, the offerings have been changed and adapted to the contemporary scene. At Behrend we place before you a variety of courses to select from for your intellectual nourishment.

The faculty will serve you well from the intellectual table, but it remains your responsibility to assimilate, digest, and use that which is offered to you.

You may find among your fellow students and among older people as well, a few who do not realize that college is essentially an environment for the development of mind and spirit. Instead, these few seem to regard college basically as an arena in which to do battle against responsible authority and order. Sometimes they create controversy for its own sake or for publicity, or to bring a little excitement into an otherwise drab existence. H. G. Wells once said "He is not so much a personality as a civil war, constantly warring within himself."

Order and self-discipline are not merely good but essential when one lives with others. As a member of a collegiate society your actions offset those around you for better or for worse. Failure to realize this is to manifest immaturity and irresponsibility. In college you move from youth to adulthood as such—

1. You must accept the responsibility for, at partial, management of your own life.
2. You will be confronted by new and sometimes confusing ideas.
3. You will be challenged to change some of your values and ideas.
4. You have to think for yourself.
5. You'll have an opportunity to develop intellectual honesty—to recognize when you have done well and when you have let yourself down.
6. You can develop intellectual curiosity and a productive skepticism. This is particularly challenging because you must at the same time hold on to what you know to be right.
7. You may learn to do some things from desire not duty.
8. You may find there are more than one or two answers to some questions.

You will find ahead of you this year an exciting and interesting opportunity. All of us at the Behr-

OSGA Demands Changes in Program

UNIVERSITY PARK (APS)—Organization of Student Government Associations (OSGA) has threatened to advise Commonwealth Campus students not to attend the Orientation Program at University Park, unless changes are made in the program.

OSGA revealed Tuesday night that it rejects the Orientation Program that transfer students from Commonwealth Campuses receive when they transfer to University Park.

Ron Batchelor, OSGA president, said he considered the present program for transfer students a "slap in the face" and "a waste of time."

"If the upcoming programs are not turned over to the Keystone Society (an honorary society for Commonwealth Campus Students) or OSGA, we will notify all Commonwealth Campus transfer students not to attend the Orientation Program at University Park. The present program considers these transfer students secondary to incoming freshmen," Batchelor said.

According to Batchelor, an investigation is being conducted by OSGA to find out why most Commonwealth Campus transfer students were placed in study lounges and other temporary housing assignments.

"We want to know how many students, who they are and from which commonwealth campus they come. OSGA is firmly disgusted with the housing problem. We will demand a reason from Housing as to why transfers were placed in such quarters. We want a guarantee that it won't happen again and we reject the $15 refund that Housing gives the students if they are still in temporary assignments after five weeks," Batchelor said.

This was the second informal meeting which the OSGA Executive Committee has held in recent weeks. The first was an orientation session.

Iron Butterfly At All-U-Day

Orders for All-U-Day tickets are now being taken at the Union Desk in the RUB. Order your tickets as soon as possible. The last day to order tickets for the football game is Wednesday, October 8. Tickets are on sale for the low price of two dollars. A special combination ticket will be offered at $2.25 per person which will cover the jammy and dinner. The concert which will feature the Iron Butterfly and the New Hudson Exit is Saturday night. Tickets are $3.00 each, and must be ordered before October 15.

Buses will be available for anyone interested. The cost of a bus ticket will be announced later. Get your tickets now, before it is too late!

end Campus wish you well. Take advantage of what's about you, work hard, and play hard in the true Penn State tradition to make the most of what's available to you.

The committee will hold a luncheon meeting today to discuss its proposal on the Board of Student Affairs. The concept of the board would place it in final authority over non-academic matters such as student parking and social activities.

The Board would be a branch of the University Senate which is responsible to the Board of Trustees. A committee of the Senate has asked OSGA, the Undergraduate Student Government (USG) and the Graduate Student Association (GSA) to prepare proposals. The committee made it clear, however, that the proposals will serve as guidelines and not as the final decisions.

The Board would be composed of students and faculty members with the students having the majority. Administrators would not be voting members of the board, although they would play a role in its structure.

It was reported that there are three ways to structure the board:

—One board for the entire University, —One board for University Park and one for the Commonwealth Campuses.

—One board for each University Campus.

OSGA is planning a state conference for the Student Government to be held November 21, 22 at the University for all SGA presidents.

The conference will include sessions and workshops on the housing and orientation problems for transfer students, transfer student curriculum revision, the Inter-Campus League, All-University Day, Board of Student Live and the role of SGA in regard to other student organizations and blacks.

TEAM TEACHING

Freshman students at Behrend this year will be able to take advantage of a new experiment — team teaching. The course will consist of English I to be taught by Mr. Robert Baughman and Speech 200 to be taught by Mr. John Spielman. Students will be required to register for both courses. The two courses are being taught on a co-operative basis so that the students will be able to develop their skills in both oral and written communications. These two courses, which will be open only to twenty Freshmen, will be taught sequentially in the same classroom, thus enabling the instructors to relate subject matter and eliminate extraneous and redundant material.
