

U. of Michigan Prof. "Don't Over-react"

Ann Arbor, Mich.—(I.P.)—"Don't over-react to demonstrators," says Michael Radock, University of Michigan vice president. "Violence and disruption don't represent the college campus or this student generation," he adds suggesting that alumni and the public keep campus ferment in perspective.

This is not to say, he adds, that campuses are tranquil, but neither is the society from which college students come and into which they graduate. "Our restless campuses reflect a spirit of rebellion in a restless nation," he declares.

Radock noted that student concerns are focused on relevance, "dialog", and "confrontation."

"We make a mistake if we lump together all forms of protest and all expressions of disagreement," he added. "We must not confuse issues with tactics used in confrontations politics—the dress, language, and mannerisms designed to offend, upset, and antagonize."

He reported that more and more colleges and universities have emphasized that they cannot tolerate force and violence. Radock also said that the few campus revolutionaries usually can be rendered relatively ineffective:

"If channels of communication are open,

"If legitimate complaints are recognized and sincere efforts are made to deal with them,

"If nonstudent agitators are isolated,

"If the campus community is kept informed, and

"If the Establishment avoids over-reacting."

It is clear that if universities wish to govern themselves, they face the fact that there are boundaries beyond which conduct becomes unacceptable, he said. Radock warned that if universities are unwilling to deal with these types of problem, "the power to do so will be lodged elsewhere." This would spell the end of free universities as we know them."

The United States is not unique in having experienced various forms of dissent and disorder involving young people, Radock pointed out. Other countries of the world, under various forms of government, have similar experiences.

Most students are not taking a negative approach in expressing their differences with the way things are, he said. Most students are too busy studying, or they are pursuing other means of making right what they find wrong.

A great number of students are helping in positive ways to improve community health services, or provide legal assistance to indigents through legal-aid clinics. Others are working with senior citizens and campaigning for political candidates, he adds.

"This is not to say" Radock added, "that a student who is tutoring a ghetto child one day may not be found at a sit-in demonstration the next day."

Universities must be receptive to change, he declared. They must recognize that the status quo is not sacrosanct. They must create an atmosphere and establish procedures by which worthwhile change can take place in an orderly way, and the free environment can be maintained.

Number 5 Jim Schriefer watches the soccer ball go in for another Behrend goal during Tuesday's match with Lakeland CC. Behrend won 4-0.

VOLLEYBALL SCHEDULE

The women's intramural volleyball tournament will get underway Tuesday at 7:00 p. m., under the direction of Miss Curcio. The schedule for Tuesday's games is as follows:

- 7:00-7:30 Shana Mandalas vs Shmo-Hawks
  - 7:30-8:00 Nittany Antlers vs Second East No. 2
  - 8:00-8:30 Kelly's vs. Second East No. 1
  - 8:30-9:00 Second Floor West vs. For Blood
- There was a really great turnout for the intramural program for volleyball and the spirit is really great.

Union Board to Feature Truth

TRUTH, a prominent local group will provide the music next Friday in Erie Hall, for the Dedication Dance. The event is being sponsored by The Union Board as a finale to President's Walker's dedication of the dorms and presentation of the Penn State Medal and Nittany Lion Cub on Thursday. Admission is $.75 and refreshments will be served.

TRUTH is an eight piece group that has been playing at the Gannon Lounge lately. Bruce Wright, the leader is a music teacher at a local high school.

Drug Abuse In Erie Co.

Local pharmacist Lou Fornelli and Detective Sergeant Wollis of the Erie Police Department spoke here Monday evening on "Drug Abuse in Erie County." A 58 minute film on drug abuse was shown also.

Fornelli stated that he was "... here as a public service and for that reason alone," when a suspicious student queried the speakers' presence. He became involved in this lecture series because a friend of the family's son 'flipped out' on LSD.

Mr. Fornelli spoke mainly on addictive drugs, primarily LSD. He explained that LSD causes chromosome changes and can cause offspring problems (deformity). Also, the user can experience reoccurrences up to 18 months after the trip. As to the effects during the trip, he said that the trip is based on the individual mental-physical well-being which one is not capable of being certain of, therefore the trip is unpredictable.

Sgt. Wollis told of elementary school children who know more about drugs than is imaginable. Two weeks ago the 11-year Erie Police Force veteran broke down the last heroin ring in Erie. He stated that in 1965 there was one drug arrest in Erie, in 1966—four, in 1967—ten, 1968—eight, and thus far this year, there have been over 150 arrests.

The detective told that the police officers in the state are trying to have the law requiring the police to knock on a door, identify themselves, and tell why they are there, repealed. This procedure gives persons enough time to flush thousands of dollars worth of dope down toilets or drains. This has happened many times in Erie, thus making dope charges stick is nearly legally impossible.

The men told of the formation of a federal government sponsored Mental Health-Retardation Panel to aid drug abusers without their risking getting 'busted'. As soon as this organization is implemented, the phone numbers and names of participating doctors will be posted.

This lecture-conservation session served as a good basic introduction to drugs, a fine stimulus for a good turnout at Dr. Cohen's drug lecture Thursday evening. Do to publication schedule, a resume of his talk is impossible until the next issue of the CUB.

PART 4: Marijuana - Weed With Roots In Hell

by Gary Thornbloom

Personality changes as shown by tests are either slight or non-existent and most persons under the influence of marijuana become less objective in evaluating situations are less aggressive. Although most doctors will agree to the fact that marijuana is nonaddictive and is not harmful, few will go on to explain the therapeutical advantages of marijuana. Claims have been made to the effect that marijuana is actually advantageous to the body and that marijuana is a cure for some ailments. These findings have not yet been proven. Studies should be undertaken to prove or disprove these theories.

The U.E. Bureau of Narcotics is a department of the Treasury Department. The Narcotics Bureau was originally intended to mainly be a tax collecting branch of little importance, but when anti-marijuana legislation was enacted the Narcotics Bureau gained power. This bureau emits a continuous flow of anti-marijuana propaganda. Very little of their propaganda is based on actual medical findings and the Narcotics Bureau also shows a lack of consistency in their statements. Mr. Anslinger, the one-time commissioner, is a prime example of a source of inconsistent lies. Mr. Anslinger has been quoted as making these two statements:

"At the House hearings of 1937, Representative Dingell of Michigan asked Mr. Anslinger: 'I was just wondering whether the marijuana addict graduates into heroin, an opium, or a cocaine user?'"

Mr. Anslinger replied: 'No, sir; I have not heard of a case of that kind. I think it is an entirely different class. The marijuana user does not go in that direction.'

And Mr. Anslinger speaking again before the Senate: "That is the great problem and our great concern about the use of marijuana, that eventually, if used over a long period, it does lead to heroin addiction."

This lack of consistency along with medical findings is what prompts many of the backers of LEMAR 14 to question the Narcotics Bureau's statements of marijuana being a killer drug and a powerful narcotic in which lurks Murder! Insanity! Death! 15. The Narcotics Bureau has gone on public record as stating that marijuana does produce insanity, it calls users addicts, pictures marijuana as a direct cause of many murders and sex crimes, and claims that the person's not even aware that he is committing a crime and actually feels what he has done is proper. It also grossly exaggerates the effects of marijuana. They claim that the user experiences feelings of intense anxiety, delirium, color distortion, shifting of colors; distortion of musical sounds, and one of the Bureau's most astounding claims is that the user feels he can step from Philadelphia to the Panama Canal in three strides and then claims he does 16. Any one who has ever smoked any marijuana knows these claims aren't based on any actual facts or cases. It can then be concluded that the U.S. Narcotics Bureau is an unreliable source of information on the use and effects of marijuana.

(Continued next week—

Why Is Marijuana Illegal?)

14 LEMAR is an organization. It stands for legalized marijuana.

15 Taken from an anti-marijuana poster.

16 Commonwealth of Pennsylvania Department of Health, Division Narcotics Drug Control, Booklet on Marijuana, 1938.

WANT ADS

FOR SALE: '65 MUSTANG 289, plenty of extras, new tires all around. Bob Luther 899-7324.

WANTED: intelligent, hard-working students with interests in current political-economic events, to win debates, contribute to an aware club. Join Forensic Union, register for Spch. 301 Winter Term.

THE LARGEST STOCK of

In Northwestern Pa. at Isaac Baker & Son State at 7th

Brookside Dairy Store

Groceries, Sundries School Supplies Open 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. 3110 Station Road

Forty's Cleaners & Tuxedo Rental

2914 Buffalo Road 899-2887 — 899-2611

Calrabone's Variety and Hobby Shop
2809 Buffalo Rd.—Ph. 899-9085
Wesleyville, Pennsylvania
School Supplies

ART'S AUTOMOTIVE SERVICE
Garnel's Sunoco
4790 Station Road
Complete Service, Repairs
899-8711 — 899-6143

Barbora's Pizzeria
3512 Buffalo Rd.
899-1123
Wesleyville, Pa. 16510
We deliver to Behrend's Dorm