wealth Campuses will have their own Senates," Keaveny said. "Don't you think the students need a vote on the Senate or the Board of Trustees—this is the students' voice being extended, don't you want that?"

In the discussion that followed the main disagreement was whether the structure of the Executive Committee was to remain elastic in its action or whether the constituent student governments should have more control over these actions.

The group finally approached the idea expressed by the Executive Committee, but with the understanding that the rules and regulations of OSGA would be changed in order to give the representative more information and involvement in executive action.

"We must realize that our executive committee is functioning at the University Park Campus on our behalf, but cannot go around wearing blinders," Behrend student government President Roy Kirkley told the group. "To say that they should shrink from any kind of issue or refuse to take a stand on an issue that requires a stand, is to blind them."

Kirkley was one of the speakers who helped sway the General Assembly to uphold the decisions of the Executive Committee.

The words of Glenn Taylor, Commonwealth Campus representative, to a University Senate committee, stirred the General Assembly to a mood of unity.

"Do you in your own SGA, consult each and every student before you say anything about anything?" Taylor asked. "If we can't open our mouths and say anything or do anything, then you do not need an OSGA Executive Commit-

Liz Parshewski Awarded $500

The Institute of Food Technology, a professional society of Technical Personnel located in Chicago and dedicated to promoting the application of science and engineering to all branches of food service, awards scholarships to students who meet their qualifications.

Miss Elizabeth Parshewski, presently a freshman at Behrend Campus, enrolled in the college of Human Development was awarded a $500 scholarship from the institute last April. A formal presentation was made last week by Mrs. Falkenhagen of the Speech Department.

Miss Parshewski was first in her graduating class at East High in Erie and a member of the National Honor Society. She is a commuting student at Behrend and is studying to be a dietician.

tee, you need a mail order house on this campus that can send back your charters, send back your Coke machines, and send back your ditto machines."

Taylor said that if this is what the members want "then now is the time to disband this organization and start thinking about your priorities, reword them and structure another organization, because I'm afraid it (OSGA) won't work."

With the defeat of a bill to hold executive actions under tighter reins, the General Assembly turned to legislative matters.

"Since we have defeated this bill, we are more or less giving them (meaning the Executive Committee) a vote of confidence," one delegate said.

Why did Prof. John Spielmann boot sophomore student David Griffis out of Speech 203. (Parliamentary Procedure)? Did Griffis maliciously bad-mouth his speech teacher? Does Griffis have an "F-minus" character? Can Spielmann give a C course grade to an A student? Ultimately, can a sophomore win a court verdict requiring a Behrend professor to pay him $10,000 damages for libel and slander?

These are some of the legal and factual questions which will be settled in Behrend's own Court of Common Pleas this Sunday at 1 p. m. in the Reed Lecture Hall. But don't panic! ! It's not for real. It's all part of another of Spielmann's classes—Argumentation and Debate—where the students' final exam is a practical exercise in courtroom argumentation.

You students who by Sunday are going to need a break from studying for final exams, those of you who are looking for an entertaining (yet not frivolous) way to pass an hour or two, anybody at all curious, the trial of John Spielmann Behrend Speech instructor, may be your "thing". The court action is open to the public, in fact jurors are needed (no special qualification) and this may be your only chance ever to "grade the prof!" Just be in the RUB Lecture Hall Sunday at one and watch justice unfold.

Allegedly, on the evening of November 10, verbal skirmishes occurred between Mr. Spielmann and the Student (Griffis) in a course in parliamentary procedure. Finally, five minutes before the class was to end, the instructor supposedly yelled at Griffis and told him to "get out." Mr. Spielmann then is said to have published a letter in which Griffis (whose cum. is 2.75) was labelled "worthless", "completely contemptible", and an "F-minus person". Griffis also claims he has been barred from further participation in Speech 203.

Giffis' lawyers are sophomores Denny Wessell and Rich Krolczyk, and first term student Marsha Hamm and Brad Evans. They are seeking $10,000 damages for their client.

Mr. Spielmann's defense is being prepared by freshmen John Musala, Eric Heffler, and Ed Fine. Experienced sophomore Roger Number, who aided in the preparation of a losing defense case last year (an innocent male dorm student was convicted of entering a girl dormie's room) will backstop the defense.

The defense will claim that Mr. Spielmann was provoked by Mr. Griffis sufficiently that the education of the other students required that Griffis be asked to leave class, that what was allegedly said and printed does not constitute slander and libel, and that the student has suffered no damages and has, in fact, gained in popularity by virtue of the infamy.

Arrangements for Sunday's trial will be those of the usual tort (civil wrong) courtroom. It is hoped that either Erie Atty. John Blackmore or Gary Shapiro will be able to serve as Judge. Sophomore Rusty Larson has agreed to serve as bailiff.
