Doug Zimmerman (32) outreaches his opponent as Mike Hook (42) looks on.

Hook, Zimmerman Inspire The Team

Two prominent reasons for Behrend's success in athletics belong to sophomores Mike Hook and Doug Zimmerman. Both athletes exemplify an outstanding attitude on the court or field and in the classroom.

Mike Hook, who hails from local Iroquois High, is the quiet inspirational leader. Dedication to hard work and perservance has brought Mike to his present level of ability. Coach Malkin stated, "Mike is a hard working athlete who doesn't stop and continually gets the job done."

A good example of Mike striving for perfection was shown last year. Starting at guard, he broke his hand in the eighth game, but willingly came to practice everyday thereafter, knowing he probably wouldn't play again.

Mike is in the College of Science and most likely will be found at University next year, helping another Penn State team in his own quiet way.

Another local athlete, Doug Zimmerman from Erie East High, was last year's Athlete of the Year at Behrend. It was at East High that he was twice named All-City in baseball and once in basketball. Doug was co-captain of last year's baseball team at Behrend and is one of the tri-captains of the soccer team and captain of the basketball team this year.

Coach Lauffer commented on Doug saying, "He is a very coachable athlete, always willing to learn and is one of the finest leaders I have ever seen."

'Z' is a Physical Education major and hopes to continue playing basketball and baseball next year at Slippery Rock College, followed by a coaching career.

Grapplers Take On State Frosh

Coach Ed Onoroto's grapplers have been layed-off since the beginning of Christmas vacation and are finally getting underway again this Saturday, January 17 against the Penn State Frosh on our home court. This should prove to be an exciting contest since Coach Onoroto promises that his team will give a good show.

Game time is set at 2:00 p. m. in Erie Hall. Be sure to come and give the westling team your support.

Eight games between Oakland and Kansas City were played over the last few years . . . Oakland won seven of them . . . However, on the Sunday before the Superbowl they beat the Raiders 17-7 for the league championship . . . Meanwhile, Minnesota had clubbed Cleveland early in their game and coasted home 27-7 . . . Last Sunday, the Vikings went into the Superbowl as 13 point favorite . . . However, the Vikings easy wins as contrasted to Kansas City's tough game (Oakland) may have propelled them to charge out to win . . . The Chiefs did, 23-7 . . . Lenny Dawson took control of the Chief offense and moved down field three times . . . Each time, Jon Stenerud footed 3 field goals as their defense hung tough . . . Finally the Chiefs drove for a touchdown . . . Mike Garret ran 5 yards through a gaping hole . . . The halftime gun sounded with the scoreboard reading Kansas City 16, Minnesota 0 . . . In the third quarter, Minnesota struck for a score, and were back in the game, briefly . . . Len Dawson moved the team downfield and from the Viking 46, tossed a pass to Otis Taylor, who zipped by several Viking backs and moved in for the touchdown . . . score—Kansas City 23, Minnesota 7 . . . That was the way it ended . . . Joe Kapp had more completions and yardage (17-28 for 172 yards) than Len Dawson (11-17 for 122 yards), but the KC quarterback only threw one interception compared to the Kapp & Couzzo combo of 3 . . . Otis Taylor caught 6 passes for 81 yards . . . The whole KC team did well . . . The offensive line kept the powerful Viking four away from Dawson . . . Meanwhile, the Chief front four made the offensive line of Minnesota work all day . . . The Vikings gained 67 yards rushing, netting them 2 first downs . . . Total first downs were 13 for Minnesota, 18 for Kansas City . . . The Chiefs churned 151 yards on the ground, having 4 players gain from 26 to 39 yards . . . A great defensive job was put in by Johnny Robinson, Chief defensive back, as was done by Alan Page in a losing cause . . . These two teams are not 13 points apart . . . However, those people who thought Minnesota would win by 13 had better check their computations . . . Kansas City was the underdog, until the game started . . . Congratulations to the Kansas City Chiefs.

Basketballers Win Two

The last two basketball games have put Coach Marty Malkin and the Behrend Cubs back into the winning column again.

At Jamestown last Wednesday, Jan. 7, the Cubs came back in the last ten minutes of the game to win 69-63. Malkin stated that for the first three quarters of the game, our offense was sluggish and wasn't working as well as it should have. In the first half, Jamestown outpointed them 37-29. Then, with only ten minutes to play, the Cubs woke up to outpoint their opponents 26-10 and take the lead.

Leading the charge were Doug Zimmerman with 29 points, Gary Boroway, 12, and Bob Schweitzer with 11. Shooting from the field came to 37 percent, while the foul line percentage was 65 percent.

Although the offense is still rather slow, the defense has improved greatly to cover up.

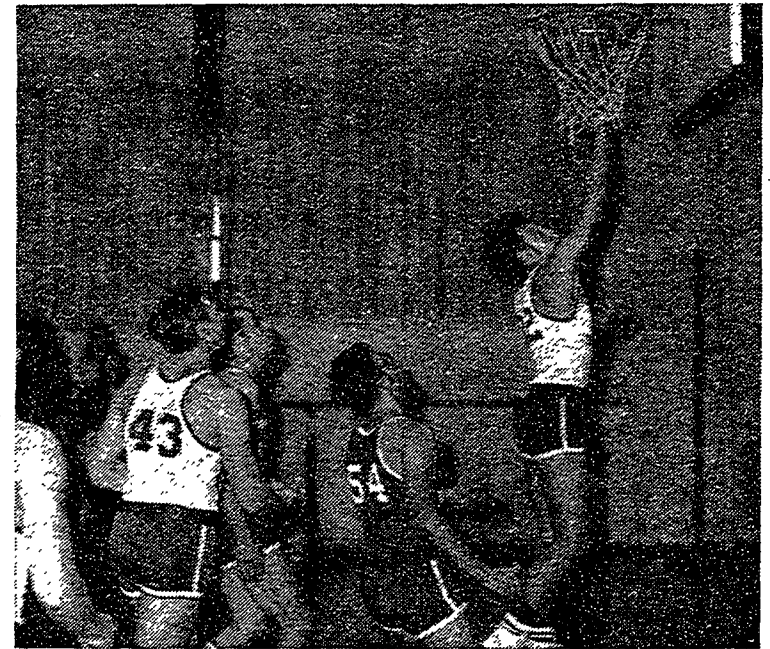

Three days later the Cubs hosted McKeesport in their second game together, the first of which McKeesport won by one point. This time the Cubs made it a victory by a score of 61-56. Here again the offense left much to be desired, with the defense covering.

From the field, Zimmerman and Co. shot 33% and 63% from the foul line. However, with Gary Boroway and Bob Schweitzer on the boards, the offense was given a sufficient number of shots to win the game. High scorers were Doug Zimmerman, 18; Bob Schweitzer, 14, and Dan Porith, 10.

Coach Malkin's forecast for the season is very optimistic. With the addition of Eric Obert who suffered a setback in grades last term, and Dan Porith returning from the sickbed, Malkin now has a well-balanced team. Malkin stated that the reason for the last two games is the long lay-off due to Christmas vacation. However, he does expect the team to "bust out" soon and show their real ability.

The next game is Saturday at New Kensington.

Zimmerman again as he scores.

different instruments, in addition to his vocal efforts. Bourree is supposed to be drawn in part from a piece written by Bach. The bass and flute are what make this song. Both do outstanding solo's and being a bass player I can really get into Glenn's solo. The background to the song is a second flute which fades in and out throughout the song. Some of Ian's best material is contained on this album and We used to know is one of these. A very emotional song which builds on Ian's voice to the heights reached by Ian's flute playing only to be carried even further by Martin's brilliant wah-wah ride. Reasons for waiting is another of the best. The strings, mixed with the flute, and the lyrics speak together of the simple moments of being in love. The song has all the feeling of love that could possibly be set free on another than live attempt. The solo song of the album is Nothing is easy and it contains many short smoothly interwoven solo-parts. The album ends with For a thousand mothers which is once again the driving sound which Jethro Tull is extremely capable of. Ian's lyrics are to me very meaningful and easy to relate to. From For a thousand Mothers, "Telling me I'll never find

What I've already found
It was they who were wrong
And for them here's a song"
