

Forensic Union Sends Reps To U. P. Debate

Last weekend, three students of the Behrend Campus Forensic Union ventured to University Park to participate in the 31st annual Joseph O'Brian Interstate Debate Conference. Students who took part were Ann Dombrowski, Len Coover, and delegation leader, Roger Nuber (FU Vice President). The conference started with registration at 7 p. m. on Thursday and ended officially at 3 p. m. on the following Saturday.

The purpose of the conference was to foster the art of debate and rhetoric through the use of such tools as public speaking and parliamentary procedure. The parliamentary rounds and public speaking dealt with two specific topics. The first topic was: Resolved that the Federal government should grant annually a specific percentage of income tax revenue to the states; and the second was: What should be the role of the university in American society? Nuber handled the first problem while Coover and Dombrowski dealt with the second.

The Congress leaders set up separate committees to investigate each topic. Each committee was responsible for preparing a majority bill, or both a majority and a minority bill if the committee members could not choose one certain bill. The bills were then submitted to the general assembly, which consisted of all participating schools, for consideration by the entire group. The assembly members were persuaded by "pro" and "con" speeches from the bill's supporters and op-

University Offers Foreign Studies

The Foreign Studies Program offered by the University has been broadened to include general study programs available to undergraduate students of all colleges of the university. The courses involved are in the areas of the Humanities and Social Sciences. No transfer of credits is involved as the participating students remain registered as Penn State students. Normally, to be accepted, three to six credits beyond the intermediate level of the language spoken in the foreign country are required (i.e., Spanish 301, French 304, German 201, Italian 54).

Germany, France, Spain, and Italy are host countries in Europe, and a program of special interest to Latin-American Studies is offered in Costa Rica.

Findley's On The Ball

In response to numerous complaints about the lack of hot water in the girls' dorm, Mr. Finley conducted a survey to pinpoint the exact source of the problem. He kept a complaint sheet in his office on which the girls were asked to write where in the dorm and at which time they experienced the lack of hot water. The results of the study showed that the shortages occurred at six and eleven p. m., and were prevalent throughout the entire building.

There are seven water heaters in Niagara Hall which are unconditionally guaranteed to function properly for one year. Mount Alto and Beaver campuses each have the exact same building but aren't experiencing any problems with their water systems.

Mr. Finley stated that he sent a letter to the architects, Smith, Miller Associates, demanding that immediate action be taken to rectify the situation. He feels that the problem is an oversight on their part.

As you can see, every possible effort is being made to accommodate the students in their hour of need, but Mr. Finley suggests that until the mechanics of the problem are solved, that the girls should spread their showers over a longer period of time. This would enable the water heaters to recover the loss of heat at a less demanding rate. Your cooperation would be greatly appreciated.

Applications for admission must be submitted to the Office of Foreign Studies before May 1st prior to the year of departure. Any Behrend students who are interested in explicit details can contact Mr. Hover (room 126, O.E. Building).
