It's possible that the boy's behavior was a result of the school's policy on dress.

Questions of the week: Will Behrend's resignation be accepted to the satisfaction of the board?

FRESH CROSS anyone? No. It's a January sponsored by yours truly the Cub staff. It's going to be held May 1 in Eric Hall. Another choice: live band.

I guess the Union Board's junior high activities have been promoted to senior high activities. Some very critical people of said board participated in the rally Sunday.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We, the students of Behrend Campus, have received an insult to our intelligence and our integrity. We are, of course, referring to the recent forced resignation of three of Behrend's most respected and proficient faculty members. According to inaudible I.V. "It is not in the genuine interest of Behrend Campus for the situation to be given any attention." Apparently, Koche, feels that the students have no right in knowing what's going on. If they don't want the hell out of it!

As students, we pay tuition for the purpose of furthering our education. We feel those men are the backbone of Behrend's academic education. They have brought to the campus, in addition to their own, modern ideas of education which the students are not capable of understanding. However, their efforts have been obliterated by a "Kochel's Koche."

Behrend Hall is ever expected to mature into an elaborate representation of the Pennsylvania State University, then it must be willing to accept new and better ideas. This is 1976 and not the "dark ages." We are in the midst of an ever changing and diversified world. The world is inevitable and can be observed in every facet of life today. Universities throughout the world are answering the call of change. Therefore, Behrend must also want to heed the call of change if it is ever to grow out of its adolescence.

WE feel that when the fall term of '79 begins, there should still be Mr. Cohen, Mr. Spielman, and Mr. Sansone as members of the faculty. If they would accept the position, the students would not in the least condemn these men if they would not stoop to regain a seat in "Kochel's Kingdom."

We, the authors, grieve the loss of these superior teachers and, in many cases, valued friends. These men are among the rare breed of faculty members willing to lend a hand to troubled students. However, it is not the curriculum attention to this situation which should be sparked, but we are better to think the administration had the audacity and finesse to defend the campus community.

If there is a good person, we demand to know it. We feel that any competent director should support his decision with outright facts and therefore we beckon to know upon leg "Kochel's Koche" stands—or would it be detrimental to his non-fisted status? With these men leave part of the spirit which makes us proud to be members of the Pennsylvania State University.

Suspectfully yours,
Richard Schwartz and
Thomas Lindali

Ecology Day's Over . . . Strange, the only litter cleaned up on campus was that which was placed on the administration lawn. Isn't it time to clean up our own environment?

All Campuses Affected By Decision On U. P. Disorders

The Board of Trustees of The Pennsylvania State University is the ultimate governing body of the University, and, as such, it bears a heavy responsibility to the vast majority of its students who desire to secure an education in order to be more useful members of our society.

It also has a great responsibility to the taxpayers of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania who, have generously supported and have endowed the University with outstanding educational facilities.

The events of the past several days at the Main Campus at University Park have caused this Board grave concern and even outrage. The University has been subjected to an assault by lawlessness by a small minority of its students and non-students which threatens the welfare and safety of the Commonwealth and caused serious temporary disruption.

This Board does not approve, nor will it tolerate, the interference of the educational processes of the University, the intimidation of members of the academic community, and destruction of University property.

In the cast of the present disciplinary problems, the Board of Trustees has asked that a distinguished group of private citizens consisting of the Robert E. Woodside, formerly Judge of the Superior Court of Pennsylvania; Miss Genevieve Blatt, former Secretary of Internal Affairs, and Mr. William T. Coleman, Jr., attorney in practice in Philadelphia, to serve as a fact-finding panel to investigate charges against certain students and make recommendations to the President. If found guilty and upon recommendation of the panel, the President of the University is empowered to expel. The panel will hold its first meeting within a week.

Until appropriate action is recommended, the students will be placed on probation but will be allowed only to attend their scheduled classes. The students charged will not be permitted to engage in any other University activity.

To deal with future events, the Board, feeling as it does, that present circumstances at The Pennsylvania State University clearly threatened the safety and welfare of its students and staff, its property, and in fact, its very purposes, the Board of Trustees has empowered the President and certain representatives he will designate, with the authority to summarily suspend any undergraduate, or graduate students who, in their considered judgment, engages in disruptive or destructive activity.

The Board has instructed the President and his staff to be guided by the University Senate in 1969.

Any student subjected to summarily disciplinary action shall be given a hearing. Ordinarily this would occur within a period of seven days following the action but, if this is not possible, at the earliest feasible time thereafter.

Any student summarily suspended shall be required to remain off campus until he is notified to appear for a hearing. Failure to comply shall be considered (Continued on Page 4)
