I hope people don't construe Monday Morning's incident as reflecting the attitudes of the entire student body.

I'll finally bow down and admit that the Erie weather is getting to me.

For those of you who didn't recognize me, or question me, no, my mommy didn't make me leave off my beard.

To Phil Hood...BLEEP.

To the guys in my EG class...no, I'm not getting married this Sunday. Quit spreading rumors, please?

Wouldn't a 7:15-8:30 breakfast make a lot more sense than the present time?

Don't go shopping with a woman.

BULLETIN BORED

A group of students, faculty, and staff members met on February 2 to organize a campus committee on Human Sexuality. Tim Muzzio was elected as chairman. The committee is already planning to offer a non-credit, coed lecture-discussion series on Topics in Human Sexuality. The series will be offered during Spring Term. "Topics" is closely patterned after the program which has enrolled over 5000 students at Yale, Mt. Holyoke, and several other New England Colleges. Several more students are needed to help plan and publicize the course. If you are interested in joining this committee, contact Tim Muzzio, Crystal Angevine, Terry Loftus, Mike Marsh, or Miss Carroll.

The second class of the Draft Counselling course will take place this Sunday, February 7, in the Seminar Room, from 1:00 p.m. to 5:00 p.m. The course is open to all, even if you did not attend the first class. If you ordered a handbook, you can pick it up at the class.

The Behrend Bookstore would like to express its appreciation of the quick action taken by students (John Miller, Jeff Selman, Pete Kwiatek, Jim Raffetto, John Venturella, Karen Maker, Tom Bruner) when the store ceiling caved-in due to water leakage Sunday night.

A special thanks to Behrend's student marshalls Karen Maker and Tom Bruner who directed salvage and clean-up operations on authority of Sgt. Charles D. Skidmore, Pinkerton's, Inc.

Student Affairs Active Committee

What is the Student Affairs Committee? What does it do? Does anybody care? Should anybody? When the first two questions are answered, the last two should answer themselves.

The Student Affairs Committee may well be one of the most misunderstood organizations in the Penn State system. This is due mainly to the lack of information surrounding the committee. At the Behrend Campus, the membership of the Committee is three faculty, three students, and the Dean of Student Affairs. The three faculty members are appointed by the Director, and one serves as Chairman of the Committee. They are Mr. Tucker (chairman), Mr. Monahan (who has been named secretary of the committee), and Mr. Lauffer. The three students are Dave Carr (ex-officio due to his office as SGA President), Rich Schwartz (elected as the representative from SGA), and Doug Brower (elected at large as the student body representative). Dean Lane is ex-officio, non-voting due to his role as Dean of Student Affairs.

These members meet an average of once every two weeks, and are to concern themselves with the broad area of "student life" on campus, particularly with "matters having to do with student welfare; student activities, student conduct, and student morale." In addition to these general functions, the Committee has certain specific responsibilities. One would concern "implementing Senate policies and relating Senate policies to the requirements of the local area." This would include such items as Rule Z-13, governing residence hall visitation. Another specific function would be related to the handling of disciplinary cases: (1) as a court of original jurisdiction when chosen by the student; and (2) as an appeals body of decisions from the student court. Appeals from disciplinary cases arising from the Student Affairs Committee shall be referred to the University Senate Committee on Appeals. Also, the Committee shall "lend whatever assistance and advice the Dean of Student Affairs may require in the interest of making accurate and equitable judgments on how student aid funds are to be assigned."

Last term, the Committee has met twice, once formally and once informally. Included for its consideration may be such topics as visitation, suggestions as to faculty advisor selection by student organizations, and a re-evaluation of the committee's functions and responsibilities. In the guidelines it states, "The Committee may recommend to the Director that additional responsibilities be assigned to it, or the Director may assign it additional duties and responsibilities as he sees fit."

Dean Lane has labeled the Committee an "intermediary step" to the Office of Student Affairs and the Director. The misunderstanding arises from the committee's name and its faulty association with the Office of Student Affairs. The function and the importance of the Committee will be greatly enhanced when this is realized.

ESP Explored

The bronze skinned, gaily dressed gypsy woman slowly seats herself in front of a prophetic crystal ball, waves her hands through the air and begins to chant the incantations which will bring visions of future events into her ball for interpretation. This scene is an old, romantic, though not very realistic one according to Mr. Jack London, famed expert on psychic phenomena.

Mr. London will appear in the RUB Lecture Hall on Tuesday, February 9 at 8:00 p.m. to explore the ESP scene, the problems of differentiating between the true psychic and the abundant fraudulent one, and the popularity and possibilities of the world of astrology. Psychic vision, telepathy, clairvoyancy, black and white magic, and woman's intuition are a few of his favorite ESP topics.

Mr. London has appeared on the Johnny Carson, Mike Douglas, and Merv Griffin shows, The Today Show, and has authored numerous magazine articles and a book entitled Instant Astrology.

On the evening of his performance, Mr. London will open a locked, sealed wooden box which contains his prediction of an event of local, national, or international import. This box was mailed to Behrend on January 25, and will be on display in the library until February 9.

Admission to Jack London's lecture-demonstration is free with activity card, 50 cents without, and $1.00 for general public.
