Beaver Rained Out

"No game today due to this beautiful vacation-land-type Erie weather. . . ." were the words printed on a sign posted on the Erie Hall bulletin board Saturday morning. The sign was placed there by Coach Stoner to inform his Behrend baseball players that their doubleheader against Beaver Campus had been rained out. These were the sixth and seventh out of twelve games that have been rained out so far this season. The twinbill was rescheduled for a later date.

Behrend meets with Jamestown Community College in a doubleheader at 1 p.m. in Jamestown Saturday. All of the Cubs' remaining contests will be doubleheaders up to the season final against Dubois Campus May 29.

A couple of key players are off the injured list for tomorrow's games.

Stoner said, Dwight Wiebel, reliever, is recovering from a sore arm and is getting back in form. Dave Ruef, who sustained a minor back injury in the Altoona game, will be ready for action at his first sacker position.

2-1, both of Niagara's runs coming on Behrend miscues. Bob Marks clouted a homerun for Behrend's lone run. Tom Wright was the losing pitcher giving up one hit.

Behrend Splits

Behrend's baseball squad returned from Niagara Community College, after splitting a doubleheader, Tuesday night. The Cubs dropped the first game,

In the second game Mark Lytle picked up his second victory of the season. Jim Grieshaber and Don Raydo connected for homeruns to knock-in the Cubs four runs. Final score was 4-0.

'Harold' Is Tricked; Daffy Wins Another

After Monday's practice, I walked into the locker room and called an informal team meeting.

"Listen guys, I'm in trouble. I have to turn an article in tomorrow and Clarence still won't admit his middle name. We have to find some way to trick him into it."

Daffy Schroeder abruptly broke in, "Don't worry leave it to good old Daffy. I'll trick him into it."

Tom Harvey laughingly interrupted. "Aw Daffy, you don't have enough brains to fool a 4 year old. Wait a minute. That's it. If we're gonna trick the coach we'll need someone who is on the same intellectual level. Daffy, you're perfect."

So Daffy, with the team close behind, walked to the coach's office. The rest of them stood silently outside the door.

"Hey Coach, I heard you just had a baby girl, congratulations."

Clarence, turning from his Hardy Boys book, replied,

"Thanks, Daffy."

Daffy then went into his act. "Coach, I was wonderin' if it was a boy would you have named it Jr.?"

Clarence quickly answered, "I wouldn't stick a name like Clarence 'Harold' Stoner on anyone."

After a moment, Clarence realized what he had said and turned pale.

Jim "Fat Boy" Grieshaber then popped in. "You mean, after all that fuss you caused, your middle name is just Harold? It isn't anything weird like Homer or Huckleberry?"

Clarence just shook his head. "Harold alone isn't bad, but when you put it with Clarence it sounds awful."

The team was depressed. After all that, imagine, it was only Harold. As the team slowly walked back to the locker room, Ron Wasson turned and said, "I got news for you coach, any name with Clarence sounds awful."

Clarence just nodded and focused his attention back to his Hardy Boys book.

The Cubs traveled to Cleveland where they played Cuyahoga Community College - Metro Campus on Tuesday. The teams record prior to the Cuyahoga match was 1-3.
