OFF WE WENT !!

Last Wednesday most everyone was having his studious concentration interrupted by a loud roar of an airplane. On that day the ROTC Cadets finally got to go on a flight from the Hazleton Airport (at least some did!) A C-47 was flown to the airport for the use of the Cadets, and continuous flights were planned for the whole day. But, as you have probably heard, "Old Man Weather" once again kicked up a fuss with snow and low visibility so that the last couple of flights for the day had to be cancelled. But for those, that didn't have a chance to fly, don't give up hope! For there are several more flights being planned for next semester and it is hoped that everyone will have at least one chance to get on a flight.
