
(Humor Cont'd)

In Lester Litter one more fault we find,
He displays his worst habits just after he's dined.

Although people fume and Mrs. Smith blows a gasket,
He never learns to use a wastepaper basket.

His table is all littered and everyone wishes,
That once, just once he would return dirty dishes.

Yes, Lester Litter is an untidy lad
To avoid his habits, we would all be glad.

PS In this column, any resemblance to living persons is purely intentional, although no one person is meant. As the old saying goes, "If the shoe fits, put it on."

On Monday, Ed Bradley tried to test the powers of observation of the students. Barbara Grubbs was the most observant -- she was the first to notice that he was wearing one brown shoe and one black shoe.

Mystery of the week -- who is Marijuana Millie?

Boy driver of the year, Bob Yori. Not only does he jack up the wrong end of the car, but prefers driving in ditches rather than on the road.

Who is "Suzy" Jackson from Georgia who is writing letters to Max?
(U.S. v Max, 307 U.S. 2755. Senator Hoey
6 L. Ed. 255) North Caroline

Dear Schlitz and Dusty,
Please make your notes more coherent. I can't read them.

Check the new suave, debonair, sophisticated and mustached Steve Gimmer.

Love,
Chippy
