

STUDENT COUNCIL DROPS BASKETBALL

What DO YOU THINK!

A poll taken by this reporter reveals the following opinions and comments on the action taken by the student council.

John Salata: "I think a school of this size should have three basketball teams."

Edward Birosh: "It's the best thing that Student Council did."

Joseph Boyle: "I'm in favor of dropping basketball as long as Student Council can pick up some other sports activities."

Edward Plesnorski: "I think it was wise of Student Council to drop basketball because not enough students support it."

Edward Pensock: "Basketball would limit the number of students who would participate in the sport; a larger number of students will be able to participate in extra curricular activities if other sports programs are adopted."

George Popson: "I think we should have basketball because it would give the school a little spirit."

Larry Houser: "I don't see any sense in having basketball because nobody goes to the games."

Donald Payer: "I think it was a good idea to drop basketball because of the lack of student interest."

(What do you think cont.)

John Potash: "I think basketball should be dropped in favor of bowling, golf, and other such student activities."

Vernon Sinn: "I'm in favor of dropping basketball because it costs too much money for only a few to benefit by."

Joseph Yesenofski: "I think it was a fair decision because of the lack of students who are interested in playing."

George Ator: "I think it was very foolish because last year's team showed that there are possibilities for Penn State having another excellent team."

Joe Hoffman: "I'm in favor of dropping basketball because it costs too much money."

Percy Satoris: "I think Student Council made a good decision."

Mary Marker: "I'm in favor of dropping basketball because the attendance at the games wasn't high."

Beverly Rimm: "I think it was a good idea because only a few were benefiting from the great amount of money being spent."

Florence Bones: "Considering that very few students attend the games, I don't think enough students benefit from the large amount of money that is spent for basketball."

NOTICE

The upper freshman who carries that oversized lunch everyday. Tony Spock has yet to bum a sandwich or better still a crum. Com'n Chuckeron, break down.