(Accrediting the Center)

While here, they interviewed some of students, and sat in on the lecture and laboratory classes to formulate reports which will be discussed at the meeting, held on the main campus with all the other members of the accrediting teams. After checking the reports of the reviewing teams, a statement will be issued within six months, reporting the recommendations for changes and improvements, and commendations on the methods being used in the Pennsylvania State University and all its centers.

LIBRARY NEWS

Because of the numerous complaints about the noise in the Library, caused by students studying or visiting together, the rule of quiet reading in all library rooms will be enforced.

A schedule of vacant classrooms is posted on the bulletin board for the convenience of the students who wish to study together. The library aides have been instructed to ask noisy students to leave the library.

AFROTC NEWS

Plans for the military ball are being formulated by the military ball committee. The dance will be a formal affair, and every cadet should make an effort to attend. More news concerning the military ball will be published in forthcoming issues of the Collegian. Also, one may obtain this information by regularly consulting the bulletin board in South Hall.

Leadership Lab, which was formerly held on Monday of each week, has been discontinued for the winter. Cadets will not be required to wear their uniforms on Monday unless they are notified otherwise.

CARD PARTY

Everyone is invited to attend the card party which is to be held at Highacres in the Main Building on Friday, November 18 at 8:00 P. M.

In order that all students will find something to their taste, the House Rules Committee has planned a program that includes chess, checkers, cards, and dancing. Something new in refreshments will be added to the party. All students interested are asked by the House Rules Committee to sign the paper which they have posted on the second floor bulletin board in the Main Building.
