

The Pennsylvania State University Center
Hazleton, Penna. December 19, 1955

Vol XVIII No. 11

Merry Christmas and a
Happy New Year

Washington Irving once said, "Christmas is indeed the season of regenerated feeling, the season for kindling not merely the fire of hospitality in the hall, but the general flame of charity in the heart," I sincerely hope that this same spirit will prevail in all of you this Christmas season. Enjoy the merriment that is part of the season, but at the same time enjoy the happiness that accompanies giving.

On behalf of the entire Center staff, may I wish you all a very Merry Christmas and a most profitable New Year.

Mr. Frank C. Kostos

With the advent of the holiday season it is my wish to convey in this manner - Best Wishes for a Merry Christmas and a happy and prosperous New Year.

In planning for the new year of 1956 I would like to quote the President of the United States, Dwight D. Eisenhower in an address he made when President of Columbia University:

"To be a good American is the most important job that will ever confront you. But essentially it is nothing more than being a good member of your community, helping those who need your help, striving for a sympathetic understanding of those who oppose you, doing each new day's job a little better than the previous day's, placing the common good before personal profit. The American Republic was born to assure you the dignity and rights of a human individual. If the dignity and rights of your fellow men guide your daily conduct of life, you will be a good American."

Mr. Ralph Noble