

QUESTION OF THE WEEK

What Do You Want?

"What do you want for Christmas?" This is the question that was asked by your roving reporter this week. Here are the answers and a few suggestions on how to get your wish.

Jim Russell: "An 'A' in calculus." (Study harder, Jim.)

John Kresge: "An eraser, because I always make mistakes." (Be at the Christmas party; we may have a surprise for you.)

Beverly Rimm: "A physics class next semester as nice as the one I have now."

Ed Digon: "A car that starts on cold mornings." (I hear the Cadillac cars are pretty good.)

Florence Bones: "My love to keep me warm." (Will a ticket to New York solve the problem?)

Paul Herbert: "I'd like to supply the love to keep a girl warm." (Hint to any girl who gets cold-keep Paul in mind.)

Hillel Sukenik: "A brand new desire for study." (A vacation may fix that up.)

Charley Rogers: "I want Santa Claus, because every day would be Christmas." (Very nice idea.)

Mansuato Pierucci: "An 'A' in English." (Hint to Miss Wood.)

Dave Gibson: "I'd probably settle for Marilyn Monroe." (Now really, Dave!)

Howard Paden: "A vacation." (Begins Dec. 21; ends Jan. 4.)

Albert Kovelesky: "A pistol." (Join the ROTC rifle squad.)

Peter Digiondomenico: "I'd like a bottle of Seagrams' VO, and I'd like to see my name in the paper." (Here is part of your wish, Pete-hope you're happy.)

The Chem 20 class: "Some matches with which to light our Bunsen burners."

Margie Churilla: "A square bowling ball."

Sheldon Cope: "The same thing I wanted last year." (?)

Helen Novarnick: "A pink Lincoln Capri convertible."

Joe Chuckran: "A new Davy Crockett glass to drink my milk from." (Don't you know Mickey Mouse is the rage?)

James Koren: "Peace on earth, good-will toward men."
