CONVOCATION

Climaxing the year at Highacres, the Convocation dinner-dance is, for many, the high spot on the social calendar. This affair is much more than a dinner dance, which alone would make it unusual, it is the occasion at which scholastic and extracurricular awards are presented to deserving students; it is the 'graduation' ceremony for those students who are completing their fourth semester here at Highacres; it is the final gathering of those who are graduation, transferring, or leaving the Penn State system. This year, Convocation is to be held on Saturday evening June 2, in Genetti's Pennsylvania Room.

Convocation is unusual in that students must reserve a place for this affair (reservations are made at the Book Store by picking up a ticket held for you there.) The reservations must be made so as to have an estimate of the number of people to be served at the dinner.

Every student is entitled to one ticket which he may either use himself, or, if he isn't going, give to a friend. If a student wishes to bring a guest, and cannot pick up a ticket from some other student, he must pay the cost of the meal-$2.26.

READING COURSE SUCCESSFUL

The corrective reading course, the first of its kind ever offered as a part of the night school program here at Highacres, started with a maximum number of students. In a statement made by Mr. Andrew Kafka, instructor in the reading course, it was necessary to turn down quite a few applicants because of the overcrowded conditions. The course was open to residents of the community as well as to the students of the University. In view of the enormous response, the course may be made available next semester also.

SOFTBALL LEAGUE???

In past years, a successful intramural softball League has operated with 4 to 6 teams participating here at Highacres. This semester, with the largest enrollment in the history of the Center, the league should see no less than eight teams taking the field. Some new equipment has been purchased recently: 2 gloves, 1 catchers mask, and 6 bats. The newly purchased equipment, coupled with that which is available, plus the expected purchase of 6 more bats, and 2 more gloves, should add to the feasibility of operating a highly successful softball league.
