will be the May Day Semi, the Convocation dinner-dance and the all college picnic. Treasurer Bittner stated that a possible $125 might be given to Miss Bobowski for another dance (it was rumored that the amount of money actually available for such a purpose is closer to $175.) Further action was postponed pending an investigation into the cost of Convocation.

TRAFFIC COMMITTEE

In a recent traffic check conducted by the members of the Highacres Traffic Committee, it was found that approximately 12 students had failed to register their cars before the deadline of April 5. A notice has been posted on the main bulletin board with the names of students caught in this traffic check and the fines. The fines listed on this notice, and also all fines that have not been paid to date, must be paid before the violator will be allowed to take his or her final exams. All traffic fines are to be paid to Miss Williams in the Book Store.

A NEW ADDITION

The card games that were so common to the Highacres Rec Hall during the past months have nearly died out. The cards have given way to the chess tournament for one thing and also to the latest addition to the Rec Hall - the bowling machine. This machine was acquired by the House Rules Committee and has proved to be a great success in the short time that it has been installed.

S P O R T S

Basketball. . . This past Friday, at the A. D. Thomas Gym, the Royals eliminated the Knicks, 56-50, and the Pistons eliminated the Hawks 57-40 in the Center's Double Elimination Tournament. This leaves the two winners (with 3-1 records) and the undefeated Warriors (3-0) the only teams remaining in the tournament.

This Friday, the Royals will face the Warriors at 6:00 pm. The Pistons will face the eliminated Knicks in a practice game in the second game. The Warriors, at the moment, have the advantage, as a loss on Friday will not eliminate them.

Lou Huber led the Royals with 22 points with Steve Gimmer and Bernie Steber helping with 12 and 10 points. Kushma and Stankeoich paced the Knicks with 11 points apiece.

John Lazur with 27 and Wasno with 13 points paced the Pistons to their win while Miller led the Hawks with 11 points.

In games played on March 16, the Pistons and the Warriors had to come from behind to beat the Royals and the Knicks. The Pistons overcame a third period lead and went on to beat the Royals, 54-40, and the Warriors knocked off the Knicks 78-69.

McFadden and Wasno led the Pistons with 17 and 15 while Huber and Gimmo led the Royals with 14 and 12. Mlasg (20) Lona (15), and Tarone (15) were top men for the Warriors while Stis (22 and Kushma (13) stood out for the Knicks.

On Friday, March 23, the Nats squeezed to a 40-38 overtime thriller over the Lakers and the Hawks walloped the Celtics 68-24.
