

DOUBLE TALK

WHAT THE PROFESSOR SAYS:

"There will be no unannounced quizzes in this course."

(WHAT HE ACTUALLY MEANS)

("Hah! Just wait until tomorrow.")

"This textbook is one of the finest ever written."

("I wrote it.")

"There will be very little outside reading in this course."

("Read any 35 of the following and report orally on each of them.")

"Now don't worry about your grades. I'm not interested in that. I just want you to get something out of this course."

("I flunked forty out of forty-two last semester!")

"I think you'll find me an easy grader."
("I flunked forty out of forty two last semester!")

"My students tell me that this is a snap course."

("I flunked forty out of forty-two last semester!")

"You won't be responsible for Chapter 10 in the test."

("For 65 points; on what line on what page in chapter 10 did Washington cross the Delaware?")

"If this test takes you more than a half hour to complete, you should flunk it."

("I've got nothing to do all afternoon, anyway.")

"I grade on quite a lenient curve."

("90% F's, 8% D's, 1% C's,
 $\frac{1}{2}$  % B's, and  $\frac{1}{2}$  % A's.")

---Scaran, Wilkowski, Milko

CONVOCATION

The annual convocation exercise will be held June 5th, at 6:00 p.m. in Genetti's Pennsylvania Room. All center students are invited, and we suggest you attend, for a dinner will be served and later on there will be dancing. The affair is semi-formal.

To add a musical note to the festivities Miss Garbrick will conduct the Community Chorus. The Alma Mater plus a few of the Schools fight songs will be sung.

A guest speaker will be on hand, and last year if you remember, we had our president doing the honors. The master of ceremonies will be Robert Petruska, a fourth semester student here at Highacres. In addition to this, a host of awards will be presented, and all in all it proves to be an interesting evening. So why not plan to attend and get in on the fun. After all, it's free.

*****

Continuation from Page 4.

"I know what you mean," added the second grad nobody knows it, but I can't help playing the horses. The boss at the bank never has found out, and I feel safe that no one will ever find out."

"My weakness is women," spoke up the third, "now and then a widow, all very discreet, of course, a week or two out of town, a business trip..."

And so the stories went. Finally they noticed that Joe was sitting over in the coroner, looking awfully uncomfortable, and not saying a thing. "Whats your weakness, Joe?" his friends asked.

"I can't say."

"Come on, Joe tell us."

"No, I can't."

"Listen Joe you know everything about us you're not going to get out of this room unless you tell us your's."

"Well...well... if you guys have really got to know my weakness is gossip and I can't wait until I get out of this room."