

HIGHACRES COLLEGIAN

THE LAST MILE

Continued

Then, to my surprise, another car managed to creep up behind. This time I was smarter! I scrambled for the right side of the road only to roll back into the path of the ROTC boys doing double time. Finally, however, I made it.

That afternoon, my classes completed, I was ready to go home. This time I did not chance the road. Instead, I started down the hill through the woods near South Hall. It was difficult walking because of the slippery earth, so I decided to slide down. I reached the bottom in a remarkably short time and thereby guessed this straight-line distance to be approximately one-fourth the distance covered by the winding road. Being an optimist, I wondered what an asset a path would be covering this shortened distance. However, no path existed, and still no path exists.

So, I'll leave you with this thought. What are we going to do about it? Will you help save a life? Namely, mine!

WHY DID YOU COME TO COLLEGE

(A Collegian Poll)

Frances Werpshaw

In a recent poll taken here at Highacres on the question "Why did you come to college?" the following frank answers were revealed.

- Carmen Lombardo....."To amass a great amount of wealth."
- Sal Salazar....."To take advantage of the opportunity to advance myself socially and educationally."
- Henry Dalto....."Actually, I am here because of two choices: going to college or going to work the lesser of the two evils is to go to college."
- Bernard Hollod....."To gain extensive knowledge."

Tom Fetterman....."To become an educated farmer."

Chuck McHugh....."To increase my understanding of world problems, and to expand my scope of knowledge."

Art Lingousky....."To become an educated wanderer?"

Bob Edmunds....."To acquire the means (education) to make a substantial living (10,000 a year)

Layne Sharok....."To me college means getting ahead and achieving success in the future."

Mrs. K....."To keep young. When I first came to the Highacres Campus, I came for two weeks to relieve a nurse, but I stayed for six years."

John Bruno....."I knew why when I came, but, brother, now I wonder."

Edward Ecker....."To partake in social activities and to gain an education."

Roy Rhubright....."Because of an overwhelming interest in aviation, I decided to come to school to study aeronautical engineering."

Eleanor Svok....."God knows, but I don't."

Ted Palmer....."To take advantage of the G.I. Bill."

Marv Sauers....."To impress my friends."

Pat Colloura....."Present-day society requires a cultural background which I hope to attain."

Ambrose O'Donald....."To get a degree in Electrical Engineering, and also make use of the G.I. Bill"

Len Lithgow....."My Mommy and Daddy made me come."
