

CONTEST UNWON--MONEY PUT BACK IN POCKETS OF EDITORS

The editors of the Freshmen Week Collegian edition decided to mix fun with work and conduct an experiment in human nature. They each put up five dollars which was to be given to the first person who walked up to either of them and stated the exact number of mistakes there were on the first page of that first edition. (There were 14 mistakes.)

Although everyone noticed the mistakes, and many mentioned them to other persons, not one had the initiative to make a specific complaint to one of the editors. Psychology paid off, for the editors still have their money. Watch for future tricks. They might pay off.

TEXAN TAKES COMMAND OF HIGHACRES AFROTC

As everyone here knows, we have a new ROTC instructor this semester. He goes by the name of Major Cecil M. Richardson, and he hails from the second largest state in the union. Though he is justifiably proud of his home state, he admits that this locality is really beautiful, especially in the fall. He and his family are now residing in the graceful old town at the bottom of the mountain upon which our campus is located. His wife, as many may know, is a freshman here. (Good luck Mrs. Richardson.)

The Major received a BS and MS in education and agriculture back home at Texas A and I (at Kingsville). Later he taught at that same institution.

Since his teaching days the major has led an interesting and varied life with the Air Force. His last assignment was with the Personnel Services of Pacific Headquarters in Japan, and later, in Hawaii. (Many have noticed the Aloha plates on his white Ford convertible.)

Although the Major has never taught ROTC before, he says he is confident that we will all have a great time learning all about the Air Force and the ROTC program. We too are confident of this. (At least we think we are confident.)

ACTIVITIES THIS WEEK END

The interim student council met Sept. 19 during the fourth period in room W-213, where the major piece of business discussed was that of the "GET ACQUAINTED" dance to be held tonight in the ISDA hall at Second and Carson Streets in Hazleton. This function really fills up HIGHACRES social calendar for this week-end. I am speaking, of course, about the Hazleton Mummies Parade to be held Saturday, the 27th, in which our ROTC Drill Team will participate. I know everyone is planning on seeing that parade to cheer on our boys. Incidentally, those guys really deserve a lot of credit for getting the team into such good shape in the two short weeks they have had to work. Don't forget to attend both of these important functions--if you don't; who will?

"NO NAMES" NULLIFY NEEDLESS NUISANCES

RIFLE CLUB BEING ORGANIZED

A rifle club which will be closely connected with the ROTC program is now in the process of being organized here. Saturday, September 27, persons interested in joining this club are to meet in front of the Main Building at 1:00 PM.
