How fortunate for the inconsiderate people that have managed to get a "Top of the Hill" parking space. Why inconsiderate? Because they do not stop to pick up the unfortunate ones that have to park at the bottom of the 95° hill. Have you ever sat through a day in school with such soggy wet shoes you could "squosh" your toes around? or your clothes were so wet you thought you were swimming? This is a normal feeling for the floating masses who have to TRUDGE up the hill daily in order to pursue their insatiable thirst for knowledge. Give a guy a break, pick him up!

ORCHIDS TO:

The library now has on display five reproductions of Vincent Van Gogh, Dutch painter (1853-1890). The paintings, "The Drawbridge," "Sidewalk Cafe at Night," "Old Peasant," "The Orchard," and "Oleanders" were loaned to the library from the collection of Mr. Frank B. Kostos, Sr. Many thanks Mr. Kostos, for aiding and abetting our cultural pursuits. Plans are being completed to exhibit art work by our students. Watch for exhibit number 1, "Little Cindy" by John Cappello.
