Various scholarships are given to worthy students already in college who show their willingness to study, but are having a difficult time financially. These scholarships are given via: a. The University Scholarship Committee; b. Individual colleges.

A fund has been set up at the Hazleton Campus (not too solvent as yet, but nevertheless, it exists) to help students at the Campus. A similar loan fund is available at the Main Campus to help needy students. A student who is financially embarrassed can get aid by applying for such aid.

Any student who has attained good grades, preferably well above a 3.0, should contact Mr. Schneider and investigate the opportunities for obtaining aid from one of the scholarship funds.

A freshman may have a difficult time proving his scholastic ability and also his willingness to help himself, but a sophomore, or upper classman, can use his past grades to assert himself and so find it easier to get financial help.

Thus, anyone wishing to further his education, and having trouble doing so financially, can inquire for more information at the Highacres Administrative Office or can contact the Coordinator of Scholarships, 203 Old Main Bldg., Penn State University, University Park.
