

ROTC REPORTS

W.H. GRAD. ADDED TO P.S.U. STAFF

The Highacres ROTC Drill Team will go to the Main Campus April 25th (tomorrow) to participate in drill team competition with St. Joseph's, Lehigh, and Penn State teams. Sixteen members will make the trip.

On Monday the 27th of April a group of officers from the Main Campus will inspect the detachment here at the Hazleton Campus.

Highacres Cadets were conducted on a tour of the Navall Reserve Center at Hazleton Heights on the 14th of April.

Mrs. Vivian Enama, a graduate of the West Hazleton High School, class of 1945, is the most recent addition to the PSU staff at Highacres.

She has replaced Miss Silvia Williams who has left her job to be married. Our new secretary, who had previously been employed at the Hazleton Campus from 1946 to 1951, is glad to be back on the job again.

Mrs. Enama who was also graduated from the McCann School of Business resides in Sugarloaf with her husband and son.

DEAR JOHN,

Students at Ogontz Campus discovered something missing on the third floor of their main building last week. To be specific, it was missing from the men's lavatory; to be even more specific, it was a toilet.

Some "meanie" has actually stolen one of the only two toilets in that room. All that remains of the brand-new toilet that came down from University Park six months ago is a 5-inch hole in the floor.

It is thought that the robbery was a "college prank," since the tank behind the receptacle was not touched. Pictures of the situation will soon appear on the bulletin board in Sutherland Hall.

The building superintendant suggested that perhaps some student wanted to install the toilet in his car. It is hoped, however, that the pranksters (if they be that) will return the toilet.

PRES. WALKER ADVOCATES TWO-YEAR TERM

President Eric Walker of the Pennsylvania State University looks upon the two-year college as the most practical solution to the crucial problem of how best to accommodate Pennsylvania's mounting numbers of college students.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR:

"For approximately two weeks, a notice has been on the bulletin board to the effect that a man's suede jacket, rust-brown, had been taken from the closet on the 2nd floor. Two weeks should be sufficient for someone that accidentally took the wrong jacket, to realize it and bring it back. Please ask your readers to check their jackets and see if they have the right one. If they haven't, would they return it to the Collegian?"

Ed. note: We are all proud of our school and do not care to think there is a thief loose. But two-weeks ago?

HIGHACRES STUDENTS MAKE PLANS FOR SUMMER

... (Some of the Collegian staff thought it might be interesting to see what plans a few students have for the summer months and for this fall. It was decided to question two students from the Baccalaureate and Associate Degree programs.)

Miss Carolyn Waskevich

a second semester student in secondary education from West Hazleton, told us that she is going to be very ambitious this summer. She plans to work at Camp Shehagua, a girl-scout camp in the Poconos, to earn some money, so that she can transfer to Main Campus in the fall.

Mr. Michael Acri

Mr. Michael Acri, a second semester engineering student from Hazleton, also plans to work this summer—picking oranges in Florida—so he tells us. He then plans to return to Highacres in the fall.

Miss Anne Marie Colancecco, a 2nd semester student in Med. Tech. from Lansford, also plans to work this summer and return to Highacres in the fall.
