

PENN STATE OFFENSE VS ALABAMA DEFENSE
IN FIRST ANNUAL LIBERTY BOWL

Penn State will send its offensive football machine, led by triple-threat quarterback Richie Lucas, against defensive-minded Alabama Saturday in the inaugural Liberty Bowl in Philadelphia Stadium.

It will be the first meeting in history between Alabama, ranked 10th in the final Associated Press poll, and Penn State, ranked 12th.

Alabama, its line bolstered by guards Don Cochran, Bill Hannah and Wayne Sims and center Jim Blevins, allowed its opponents only 1,342 yards rushing and 52 points in posting a 7-1-2 record.

Lucas, a Glassport, Pa., senior who made the first team, United Press International All-America, ran and passed the Nittany Lions to an 8-2 season. Lucas hit on 58 of 117 passes for 913 yards and 5 touchdowns. Penn State racked up a total of 255 points.

Bud Dudley, co-promoter of the game, estimated the contest would draw 50,000 fans. Philadelphia Stadium, formerly known as Municipal Stadium, has a seating capacity of 100,000.

Penn State, which lost to Syracuse and Pitt, will be making its third bowl appearance. The 1922 team lost to Southern California, 14-3, in the Rose Bowl. The unbeaten, untied Nittany Lions of 1947 were held to a 13-13 tie by Southern Methodist in the Cotton Bowl.

For Alabama, which lost to Georgia and was tied by Vanderbilt and Tennessee, it will be the 13th bowl appearance. In post season games, the Bear Bryant-coached club has a 7-4-1 record. The Crimson Tide last played in the 1954 Cotton Bowl game when they were defeated, 28-6, by Rice.

Saturday's game will be televised nationally by NBC starting at 12:45 P.M.

A patient in the doctor's office was listing his complaints to the nurse. "I've got a bad case of arthritis," he enumerated, "there's a buzzing in my ear, my ankle is sprained, I see spots in front of my eyes, and I've thrown my thumb out of joint."

"You must be awfully healthy," replied the nurse, "to stand all the pain."
