

PENN STATE RAPS TERRAPINS

By DAVE LEONARD

The muck and mire of Beaver Stadium was more suited for Penn State's grinding ground attack, and the Nittany Lions were able to stun Maryland, 28-9, for an impressive victory. The Terrapins' multiple attack gave Penn State multiple troubles, but when Maryland moved close to the goal line, it was State's mud-loving front line that stopped the Terps. Maryland's three-game win streak was stopped, and the Terrapins are now 4-4. State is 4-3 with two games to go.

Don Jonas, an Army veteran, who learned the lesson of striking swiftly when the foe least expected it, struck the key blow in the game.

State led 7-3 in the second quarter when Collins sent a high punt to Lion territory. Jonas let the ball hit the turf and then turned away as though to let the ball roll dead. He suddenly turned back, grabbed the ball and set sail over the watery field. He dashed through a clump of bug-eyed tacklers at the forty and was in the clear to go sixty-five yards for a touchdown. This feat, plus a brilliant all-around performance, earned Jonas the best in the game award.

State got a quick touchdown in the third quarter to ice the game. Center Jay Huffman intercepted a Betty pass on the twenty-nine and returned it to the twenty-seven. Five plays later, Kerr took the ball on the one and dove over a pile of players for the touchdown.

Later in the third quarter, Dick Pae recovered a fumble by Tom Brown on the Maryland twenty-three and State scored again. On the first play, Hoak started to roll out to his right, and after spinning from would-be tacklers, cut down the middle of the field to the six. On the next play, Torris slammed over on a belly play over left tackle to end the scoring.

Autumn Leaves Dance

By JOANNE ROSSI

On Friday, October 28, 1960, the Student Council held its annual fall dance in the Union Building. The theme "Autumn Leaves" was carried out in an attractive traditional scattering of corn shocks, pumpkins and orange and brown crepe paper.

The two west corners of the dancing area were blocked off by rustic white birch fences, while the orchestra took their place in the center of the floor.

Music by the "Unknowns" was thoroughly enjoyed by both students and a surprising number of dates from off campus.

Future Teachers' Club Visited Highacres

On October 20, 1960, thirty-six members of the West Hazleton High School Future Teachers of America Club visited the Highacres Campus. Part of the agenda included a guided tour of the campus for the visitors by Mr. Frank Kostos.

The guest students spent an entertaining and educational afternoon gathering information concerning careers and opportunities as teachers.

College-Community Chorus To Present Christmas Program

Pachelbel Magnificat is the selection for the Christmas program which will be presented by the Highacres Chorus in December, under the direction of Miss Pearl G. Garbrick.

The program, Pachelbel Magnificat, is the hymn of Mary (Luke 1:46-55), used in the church services, since early in the sixth century. English versions date from the fourteenth century. In the Book of Common Prayer it occupies the position of the first canticle in the office of Evensong . . . (the first hymn with words from the Bible used in religious ceremony.)

All students who are interested in joining the Highacres Chorus may reach Miss Pearl G. Garbrick. The membership at present includes Penn State students, Penn State faculty, and citizens of the community.

Rehearsals are held every Tuesday evening at 7:30 p.m. in the Student Union Building.

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL

OCTOBER 24, 1960

In the first game, the Muchachos paced by Bafile, Zelnick, and Miller spurred to an early 21-1 lead over the Untouchables and coasted the rest of the way. The trio with 15, 14, 14 respectively kept up a torrid shooting pace. High for the Untouchables were Falcone and Bobeck with 7 each. The overall rebounding strength of the Muchachos proved to be the deciding factor. Jerry Laytar of the Muchachos played an outstanding game both offensively and defensively and lost credit for some of his performance through a mix-up in the scoring.

Box scores are listed as follows: Name, F.G.—F.—Total.

MUCHACHOS: Sczcecina 2-2-6; Fertally 5-0-10; Bafile 7-1-15; Miller 7-0-14; Zelnick 7-0-14; Wanyo 3-1-7; Laytar 4-1-9; Totals 35-5-75.

Hazleton Campus Alumni Association News

The Alumni Association is pleased with its continuous progress since its beginning three years ago. Former students have found this organization useful to help keep in touch with developments of our campus. They write from all over the world where they are working or studying. For example Joseph Coury ('59) wrote from Hafn, Hornafjordur, Iceland to acknowledge his receiving the Highacres Collegian and the Alumni Newsletters. Other former students write in to ask about the current address of a former classmate. The Alumni secretary keeps an up-to-date list as much as is possible.

In line with one of the associations objectives to recommend the organization of night classes at Highacres according to the needs of the area graduates, this fall, Chemistry I given by Professor Richard Mattern was organized. Eleven students are in this class. From this nucleus, it is hoped that a full-scale program will be established so that area graduates will be able to work toward the four-year engineering degree. Next semester's plans include the offering of Chemistry 5 (3 credits), along with Math 41—Analytic Geometry (4 credits). Classes would meet on Mondays and Thursdays each week. Interested persons may call Alumni members Charles Shultz—GL 5-1892 or George Hayden—GL 5-6109.

Did you know that former students Elizabeth Harlor, Ray Saul, Donald Barnes, William McLaughlin and Margaret Minnig are on the staff of the Hazleton downtown newspapers?

Congratulations to Al Sarkus for his promotion as Director of Art in the Hazleton City Schools. Best wishes to Bill Mace in his new engineering position.

Many thanks to Attorney Henry Giuliani for his good work

Bernard P. Stone ('60) is now Radar Technician at the Federal Aviation Agency at Idlewild International Airport, Long Island, N. Y. Write to him at 116 Denton Ave., Lynbrook, L. I., N. Y.

Our current slate of officers' terms will expire on December 31, 1960; and plans are being made for some new area people to lead us in our growth.

Many committees will be formed to enable us to provide more effective programs in areas which require it, such as the Alumni Fund Committee, Nominating Committee, Publications Committee, Alumni Placement Committee, Student-Alumni Relations Committee and Budget and Finance Committee. Would you want to volunteer for any of these? Let us know.

Current officers—President Bill Kahler ('56); Vice President Andrew Kavalics ('59); Second Vice-President Joseph Lona ('57); Secretary Remo Molino ('59); and George Hayden ('60) (who is now Treasurer) all join Alumni in wishing current students, faculty and staff a Happy Thanksgiving.
