

BASKETBALL AND BOWLING GETS OFF TO GOOD START

Survey Taken Of Enrollments

An evidence that the expected enrollment crush has not yet hit the colleges and universities of the country is contained in the information provided by Dr. Garland G. Parker in the annual study of enrollment statistics for the educational journal, School and Society.

"The standout fact in fulltime enrollments," says Dr. Parker, "is a slowdown of freshman registrations, with a growth of only 0.3% indicated in the 531,215 first-year students in 897 institutions reporting in both 1962 and 1961."

The year's small increase contrasts sharply with the increases in 1961 (5.4%) and 1960 (11.4%). The lag is attributed to the World War II lower birth rates.

Freshman enrollments by study fields showed the following results: engineering down 5.7%; declines also in business, agriculture, and nursing; increases in education (3.2%) and arts and sciences (1.4%).

Other results of Dr. Parker's study include the following:

1. Full-time students were up 6.2% despite the small increase in freshman enrollment.
 2. Part-time and evening class enrollments up 7.3%.
 3. Grand total enrollment is up 6.5%.
 4. Of all students, 54% are in large public and private universities.
 5. Enrollment in the Middle Atlantic states is up only 3.4% lowest of the 9 regions.
 6. Returns from 1,090 institutions show a grand total of 3,493,626 students.
- Penn State now ranks 12th in full-time enrollment, displacing Purdue in last year's statistics. The University of California, with 56,519 students is first; Penn State is listed as having 19,332.

SMILE AWHILE

Freshman—"May I kiss you?"
Co-ed—"Jeepers! Another amateur."

Prof—"Why are you late?"
Student—"Class started before I got here."

Frosh—"I'm tired. I was out with a nurse last night."

Soph—"Cheer up. Maybe your mother will let you go out without one, sometime."

Senior (at basketball game) —
"See that big substitute down there playing forward? I think he is going to be our best man next year."

Co-ed—"Oh, darling, this is so sudden!"

Frosh—"What is college bred, Pop?"

Dad—"College bread is a four-year loaf made from the flavor of youth, and the old man's dough."

"Are they very strict at your college?"

"Strict? Do you remember Jonesy? Well, he died in class, they propped him up until the lecture ended."

"I had the girls running in circles when I was in college."

"I never knew you were such a sheik."

"I wasn't. I was women's track coach."
