

Activities Feature Dance, Chess, Films

On April 19, the first dance of the term was held. Music was provided by the Shantones, and refreshments were served during intermission. Mrs. Ferry chaperoned the affair which proved to be an enjoyable evening for everyone in attendance.

The sorority is already planning for the May Ball. This and many more affairs planned by the Social Activities Committee promise to make the Spring Term the best yet for all socially minded students.

On April 5, Mr. Donald Byrnes presented a lecture on chess. This was not only interesting to the students and teachers interested in chess, but also to the amateurs. Mr. McCallus chaperoned the affair, and refreshments were served afterwards.

March 29 began the activities for the Spring term. Two films, Crime and Punishment, and Muscle Beach were shown in the SUB Lounge. Refreshments were served during intermission. Chaperone for the evening was Mr. Jesse Pollard. Rave notices were given by all who attended the dual treat.

ASIS Offers Student Jobs

Grand Duchy of Luxembourg—Additional American college students may now be eligible for European travel grants and cash scholarships offered by the American Student Information Service.

ASIS now plans to boost the number of these grants to be given from the original 1000 to 1500.

ASIS has more than 3,000 jobs available throughout Europe. Examples of jobs are life-guarding and waiting on tables at Swiss resorts, camp counseling at French children's camps (some of which are in the Paris area); construction work camps on the Spanish Costa Brava; farm work in England's 'Robin Hood' country and on Israeli Kibbutzim near the Sea of Galilee; teaching English to children of Finland's leading families; working at a Swedish seaside resort; farm work in Norway; and high-paying factory and construction jobs throughout West Germany. Wages range from $190 a month for the highest paying positions in Germany to only room and board in Spain.

Although ASIS offers complete arrangements with a round-trip scheduled jet flight, students are free to make their own travel arrangements. ASIS expects that many students participating in college charter flights will also want summer jobs in Europe.

ASIS, the only organization offering summer jobs in Europe to American college students on a large scale, has placed thousands of students in eleven countries during the past five years.

For a complete 20-page Prospectus, a complete selection of summer jobs in Europe, and a job application form (enclose $1 for Prospectus, handling and airmail reply) write: Dept. C, ASIS, 22 Avenue de la Liberté, Luxembourg City, Grand Duchy of Luxembourg.

The first 8,000 inquiries receive a $1 coupon towards the purchase of the new student travel book, Earn, Learn and Travel in Europe.

STUDENT POLL:

What is your opinion concerning the three day exam period at the end of the term?

Kathy Kumke — 3rd term — Applied Arts:

"The 10 weeks are too crammed the way it is, without having the final exams come in the last week of classes."

Tom Smith — 3rd term — Education:

"The 10-week term is too short as it is. We need all the class time we can get without having finals during the regular class period."

Joseph Konar — 3rd term — Secondary Education:

"I think the final exams should be held in the last week of classes, because I would rather get out sooner so I could work longer in order to earn money so I can come back to school next year. I know many other such cases where the extra three days are more important financially than they would be if they were used for taking tests."

Marie Melchiorre — 3rd term — Agriculture:

"Well, I believe that if the instructor has sufficiently covered the material that is necessary for the course before the last class period, then it is not necessary to utilize the three days for testing."

Wayne Najduch — 3rd term — EET:

"Final exams should be done away with entirely. Grades should reflect what you do during the class periods during the regular 10 weeks. Too much emphasis is put on that final hour of testing."

Gregg Smith — 6th term — Liberal Arts:

"Exams are an important measure of what has been achieved by the student during the regular study and work period of 10 weeks. Because of the importance of examinations, the three day exam period is important and necessary."

Theta Sigma Pi Plans May Dance

Theta Sigma Pi sorority of the Pennsylvania State University, Hazleton Campus, in its first meeting of the Spring term, made tentative plans for the May Ball, Saturday, May 25.

Voting for the queen and her court will be held in about two weeks. Members of the decorating committee are Carol Janasic, Marie Melchiorre, Betsy Moore, Essie Nemeth and Mollie Boyer. They will have a special meeting May 4, in the Sub Lounge.

Kay Yenko presided for the meeting which was held in the Sub Lounge with Mrs. Elizabeth Bodenstein, advisor and 15 members attending.

Library Adds Books, Periodicals

Additions to the periodicals received by the Highacres Library have been decided upon recently. They include the following: American Mathematical Monthly, Engineering News Record, Theater Arts, Department of State Bulletins, Current, Esquire, Survey of Current Business, Biology Teacher, Math Teacher, Saturday Evening Post, Reader's Digest, Sports Illustrated, and Harper's Bazaar. This brings the total of magazines, technical journals, and newspapers to about 95, an array designed to meet the reading needs and interests of students in various curriculums.

Recent hard-cover acquisitions are these:

- Anastasi, Anne. Differential Psychology.
- Gross, Martin. The Brain Watchers.
- Duffy, James. Portugal in Africa.
- Whitmer, Robert M. Electromagnetics.
- Hickman, Cleveland. Integrated Principles of Zoology.
- Packard, Vance. The Pyramid Climbers.
- Garritt, Edgar. The Theory of Beauty.
- Golding, William. Lord of the Flies.
- Baldwin, Hanson. World War I.
- Henny, Keith. Electronic Components Handbook.
- Bectelheim, Bruno. Dialogues with Mothers.
- Barth, John. The Sot-weed Factor.
- Clemens, Samuel. Letters from the Earth.
- Flores, Angel. Franz Kafka Today.
- Walser, Richard. Thomas Wolfe.
- McClellan, Grant. U.S. Policy in Latin America.
