

Labor Relations Talk Given At Highacres by Dr. Newman

On Friday, February 20, a lecture was held at the Hazleton Campus of the Pennsylvania State University. Dr. Monroe Newman, professor of economics at Penn State, spoke on "Recent Trends in Labor Relations." The lecture began at 8 p.m. and took place in the HUB Cafeteria.

Dr. Newman pointed out current developments in collective bargaining and in labor legislation, and explained trends in the labor supply, among other subjects in his talk.

This lecture was one of the Faculty Artists' Series arranged by the University to stimulate interest in the areas of art, music, drama, literature, and related fields.

Commonwealth Campus at Harrisburg

The University will open a Commonwealth Campus at Harrisburg for the Fall Term 1964. Qualified applicants will be admitted to associate degree curriculums in Drafting and Design Technology and Electrical and Electronics Technology. Classes will be held in the former Harrisburg Academy Buildings at 2891 North Second Street, Harrisburg, Pennsylvania. An office will not be established there until late summer 1964. Prospective applicants may write to the Dean of Admissions, 109 Willard Bldg., University Park, Pennsylvania, or contact Mr. Edward Elias, Director of the York Campus, 1031 Edgecomb Avenue, York, Pennsylvania.

In the past, young men of the Harrisburg area have enrolled at the York Campus to obtain the technology programs, and the development of the new programs will help to alleviate crowding at the York Campus.

Scranton Campus

During the Fall Term 1963, President Walker announced plans for the development of a Commonwealth Campus in the Scranton area were in process. The campus will be located in the Dunmore area on a twenty acre tract acquired several years ago. The new campus area is located at an entrance to the Anthracite Expressway, convenient to many area students.

A classroom and laboratory building is planned to be built there. The initial project will be designed to accommodate 400 full-

Mother-Daughter Tea

The Theta Sigma Pi Service Sorority held its annual Mother-Daughter Tea, Sunday, March 1, in the Student Union Building. The affair began at 2 p.m.

All mothers of sorority members, faculty wives, and women of Penn State were invited. The Choralairs provided the entertainment.

Mrs. Elizabeth Bodenstein, faculty advisor, and Essie Nemeth, club president, hosted the affair. Committee members worked out the final arrangements.

They are as follows:

Invitation Committee — Janet Mihal and Barbara Hutyan.

Food Committee—Linda Corra, chairman; Kay Yencho; Janet Astleford; Kathy Botchick; and Carol Yurkovic.

Flower Committee — Karen Kreitzberger.

The Scranton Advisory Board completed plans for a fundraising campaign which is currently under way. The University also requested funds from the General State Authority for constructing the classroom-laboratory building. G.S.A. has authorized $631,561 for the project.

Club News and Activities

LAS VEGAS NIGHT BIG SUCCESS

On Friday, March 13, all the clandestine gamblers, bookies, debtors, cheaters, and misers of the Hazleton Campus were publicly exposed. The place in which their secret identities were discovered was the Highway Robbery Club located in the SUB building. It was here that Highacres held its annual Las Vegas Night spectacle, and all P.S.U. students with a yearn for gambling found their big chance to beat the odds. The Robbery Club offered almost all forms of gambling from Black Jack to horse-racing, from over-and-under to chug-a-lug. As an extra added attraction, a bar supplied the guests with nickel beers (straight from the root).

With the admission price of one dollar, guests were entitled to $2,500 worth of gambling money. With every added quarter, they received $2,500 extra. Later, P.S.U. sweatshirts, lighters, and other worthwhile gifts were raffled off.

It should be noted that our club still retains its long-standing reputation for having the most honest-looking dealers in the state. Note also, that if you looked hard enough on Friday, you might have seen some of the most famous wheeler-dealers of our time — Black Jack Lutz, Spade Jefferies, Martin, the Wheel, Mehall, and many others.

All in all, the gala event with its authentic decorations straight from Las Vegas and its not so authentic card sharps proved to be one of the most enjoyable events held this year.

Nickelodeon Night

On Friday, March 6, a movie entitled "Silent Night" was held in the SUB Lounge at 8:00 p.m. The movie contained eight reels of silent film starring such old time favorites as Laurel and Hardy, the Keystone Kops, Charlie Chaplin, and many others.

Admission was a nickel, as in the days of the old nickelodeon shows. Refreshments were served, and free popcorn was given throughout the evening.

Attendance hit an all-time high by breaking the Campus record. It was estimated that 115 guests attended the event.

I.C.C.G. Club Meets

The Inter-Collegiate Conference on Government held its first meeting on Wednesday, February 12. At that time, the club elected a temporary executive committee. The committee's duties are to revise the constitution of the organization, to set the requirements for officers, and to determine the voting procedures to be used in subsequent elections. The members of the executive committee are Philip Jeffries, Anthony Molinari, Curtis Link, Janet Astleford, and Joseph Lucia. Several appointments were made and duties assigned: student advisor and corresponding-secretary, pro tempore is Richard Grovich; the time and program computers are Kathy Botchick and Janet Mihal.

The second meeting of the I.C.C.G. was held on Wednesday, March 4. At this session, Louis Misantone was elected President, and Barbara Mondik was elected Vice-President. Francis Pierucci was appointed Secretary-Treasurer by the President.

The club completed its first project by holding a mock New Hampshire Republican Primary on Monday, March 9. This project, headed by Carmen Lombardo, was termed a success because its results were very similar to those obtained in the New Hampshire Primary of March 10.

At the last meeting of the Winter Term, the results of the New Hampshire Primary were discussed, and various suggestions for future club projects were heard.

End of Term Dance

Capping the various events and frustrating finals of this term's last week is the End of the Term Dance, to be held on Friday, March 20. Music will be provided by the Citations, and admission is $.50. The dance is being sponsored by the Circle K Club, so they can obtain money for their conference at the University Park Campus.

All students are cordially invited to attend.
