HIGHACRES STUDENTS POLLED

The following are responses of some of the student body at Highacres to the question: Do you think that the voting age should be lowered to 18?

Mary Ellen Williams (1 Chem Tech)—

"Yes, at 18 a person is old enough to have some ideas about who should run his country. There are some 18 year olds who know more than adults who are much older and already have the vote. Young people have young ideas and are more interested in political matters."

Kathy Lutcavage (1 Chem Tech)—

"No. People under the age of 21 do not know enough about government. Young people can be swayed by the looks and personality of a candidate."

Tom Murmello (4 DDT)—

"If I am old enough to fight for my country and die for my country, then I am certainly old enough to vote at 18."

Jim Ross (1 Ed)—

"No. Young people do not have sufficient knowledge to vote. Some young people do not even care about whether they vote or not."

John Sehar (4 Phys Ed)—

"If we can be drafted, we should be able to have something to say about the way our government is run."

Paulette Platukis (1 LA)—

"No. The present age, 21, is old enough for assuming the responsibility to vote, since half the people who are 21 do not take voting seriously."

Spirit of Competition High in Cage Players

Intramural basketball is in full swing at Highacres this term. Under the direction of our physical education teacher, Mr. Alfred Leister, the league has had many exciting games. Most of the games were close, indicating the spirit of competition is high in the league. The surprise of the league is the undersized team, the "Animals," which is composed of players from the Panther Valley Area. Led by captain, Nick Kashuta, the "Animals" have won their first three games and are currently challenging the "Dukes" for leadership in the league. In addition to Nick Kashuta, the "Animals" are composed of Dave Malkin, Dennis Cipko, Martin Kodlick, Tom Potance, Ron Reid, Ed Gurka, Mike Steber, John O'Connell, and John McGroarty. The star players of the Dukes are John Gido, Bob Lutz, and Bernie Smolen. Also on the Dukes are the following: Terry Bittner, Paul Bujac, Ed Mehalick, and Ron Sindlinger.

The standings are as follows:

Team	Won	Lost
Dukes	4	0
Animals	3	0
8-Balls	2	2
D-Techs	1	2
Rangers	1	2
Los Borrachos	1	2
Mounts	0	4

Esther Summer (1 LA)—

"If we are old enough to fight for our country and accept the responsibilities of an adult, then we are old enough to have the vote at 18 and to have some say in selecting the rulers of our country. The youth of today are more educated in the ways of government."

Joe Velitsky (4 LA)—

"The average 18 year old today is much more informed than his counterpart of previous years. He is more than aware of the responsibilities involved in voting; therefore, he should have the vote."
