

GOOD OLD DAYS

S.G.A. HOLDS ELECTIONS

On October 13th, all students were given the opportunity to choose the occupants of the two vacant seats on the Student Government Association. Only sixty-five percent of the students voted, but those who did know that they were doing their duty as a Penn State student. These students voted for two from a slate of six. In alphabetical order, the candidates were: Jon O'Connell, Larry Dauksis, Helen Floyd, Ed Haburshak, John Hollick, and Tom Yurick.

When the polls closed, the ballots were counted by the newly appointed election board. Members of the board are: Anna Mae Cherenyock, Steve Haraschak, Ed Skernolis, Robert Weber, and Joseph Zola, chairman. The winners of the election were Larry Dauksis and Ed Haburshak.

Both Ed and Larry feel that it is a great privilege and an obligation to hold a seat on the council. They expressed pride in having been chosen as representatives of the students, and they also feel that an honor has been bestowed upon them. They hope that in return they can bestow honor upon Highacres.

ALUMNI ENJOY HOMECOMING

Penn State's annual homecoming, held on October 23, 1965, was well attended by the alumni. The former Penn Staters were off on their individual experiences elaborating on the homecoming theme. Posters, banners, and lawn displays all expressed in some size, shape or form their sponsor's interpretation of the theme.

One of the highlights of the Homecoming was the selection of the Homecoming queen. From a field of 105 applicants, 25 semi-finalists were chosen. Then, a panel of six faculty and administration judges selected six finalists. The final decision was made by the football team. At a Friday night pre-game pep rally, the name of the 1965 Homecoming queen was revealed. She is Sue Hawthorn, a fourth term Education major from Butler, Pennsylvania.

Before the game on Saturday, the queen was escorted onto the field by the U.G.A. president, who presented her to her subjects.

During the game, Penn State's Blue Band presented a "Salute to Hum", honoring Dr. Hummel Fishburn, a member of the Penn State staff for forty years. He was director of the Penn State Blue Band from 1939-1947, and, at the time of his retirement last July, he was head of the Music and Music Education Department at Penn State.

The football game and the post-game parties and activities all added to the enjoyment of the alumni and other weekend guests at the University. In short, the 1965 Penn State Homecoming was a tremendous success from start to finish.
