

WHO DO YOU WANT FOR GOVERNOR OF PENNSYLVANIA?

Today is the day that the "mock" elections for the Governor of Pennsylvania are being held here at Highacres. Each of you as future members and leaders of our society should participate in this simulated duty of a recognized adult.

For the use of interested students, the Collegian has requested and received articles from each of the campaign managers at Highacres which should give a more student orientated view of each candidate and his qualities.

Below are the finished products of this endeavor.

MILTON SHAPP
by Danny McCrory

On Friday November 4, you, the students of Highacres, will have the opportunity to express yourselves in a mock gubernatorial election. Your self-interest demands that you cast your vote for education's greatest friend in Pennsylvania-- Milton Shapp. If you find tuition in Pennsylvania State exhorbitant, you should express yourself by voting for the man who has made free higher education the main spring of his campaign. What faculty member thinks his salary is sufficient? Milton Shapp agrees that it isn't and plans to do something about the greatest sham of modern times. We do not speak to you of high flown political theories, nor do we praise ourselves.

Vote for the man who has your self interest at heart. Vote for more money in your bank account. Vote for Milton Shapp.

RAY SHAFER
by Mike O'Donnell

Why trade success for an unknown person with empty slogans? Ray Shafer, r, Bill Scranton's right hand man will continue those solid programs which regained for Pennsylvania its rightful position as the most progressive state in the union. The ~~Republican~~ candidate--Ray Shafer-- offers continued performance of solid policies. He is concerned for the people of Pennsylvania, not for his own private gain. Vote for a man of proven intellectual capacities (Phi Beta Kappa) who will not push the state into bankruptcy. Ray Shafer is unswerving in his desire to serve the people.

The real issue in this election is whether you want a governor whose record speaks for itself or an untried individual who offers slogans and not programs. RAY SHAFER IS THE THINKING MAN'S MAN!!
