CHESS CLUB HAS UPCOMING TOURNAMENT PLAY

The Highacres Chess Club of the Intercampus Leagues will be playing in the Eastern Section (Pocono Region) Chess tournament at the Berks Campus on April 11 and 12. The Chess Club, with Mr. Campbell as advisor, was organized last term and officers were elected. They are: Anne Marouchoc, President; Rich DePoalo, Secretary; and Larry Opert, Treasurer.

Our Chess Team claimed a victory during the fall term at the Schuylkill Campus. The members of that team were: John Humenick, Rich DePoalo, and Mark Toniatto. Three years ago, the Highacres Chess team won the Intercampus State Championship and the goal of our Chess team this year is to add a second State Championship trophy to the Highacres trophy case.

President Anne Marouchoc has announced that all Highacres students, whether beginners or experienced chess players, are invited to join the Chess Club. She said the chief aim of the chess club is, "to acquaint students with the art of playing chess and to make the game enjoyable for all who are interested." With full support of the members she foresees a bright future for the Chess Club.

University Park, Pa. — Eight students — economically and academically disadvantaged for various reasons — will be sponsored by the College of Agriculture at The Pennsylvania State University, beginning with the 1969 Fall Term, Dean Russell E. Larson, said.

He pointed out that at least four more disadvantaged students will be assisted in each of the three succeeding academic years as well.

Each student, Dean Larson added, will be assured of the basic financial assistance he may need if he maintains academic standards for continuing enrollment in college and until he reaches the educational goal. This goal may be a four-year baccalaureate program, two-year associate degree curriculum, winter course, or short course.

Many faculty members already have indicated their willingness to serve as tutors and advisors, so that any of these students who need remedial instruction or supplemental academic help in starting their college education can be given this kind of educational assistance.

Dr. Jerome K. Pasto, associate dean for resident education, will supervise this academic program for college-age youth, which will require intensive identification and recruitment of potentially disadvantaged young people who sincerely wish to gain an education and become gainfully employed after completion of their college careers.

Assisting Dr. Pasto in recruitment on a part-time basis will be Dr. William L. Henson, adjunct assistant professor of agricultural economics, who will travel throughout the Commonwealth to interview applicants for need and admissibility.

To underwrite the program, funds will be made available from several sources: college scholarship funds, grants from the agricultural students assistance fund, wage monies for employment of students on an hourly basis by various departments, and loans from college loan funds.

A maximum of $36,000 annually can be made available from these resources to initiate and continue assistance for these deserving students, Dr. Pasto commented.
