

1967 REVISITED

INTRA-BASKET SCHEDULE

The year was 1967. The place: Beaver Stadium on a brisk October day early in the football season.

They were sophomores then untested sophomores for the most part, like Steve Smear, Paul Johnson, John Ebersole, Denny Onkotz, Jim Kates and Neal Smith.

But this was to be their baptism of fire. Thrown into the line-up because of injuries and on opening day loss to Navy, this fledgling band of sophomores was about to face the nation's number one quarterback, from one of the nation's number one teams, Gary Beban of UCLA.

"Beban and company will mutilate the sophomore studded lineup of Penn State," wrote one knowledgeable football prognosticator.

Well, when the dust had settled, UCLA had won — 17-15 squeaker by virtue of a blocked punt — but Beban, who was to go on that year to win the Heisman trophy gained only one year net on the ground and was held to just 100 in the air. Time after time the band of sophomores from Penn State threw him for losses on his fabled roll-out passes.

Today, these same sophomores are seniors. They have not played in a losing cause since that day back in October of 1967. And over the past two years they've helped Penn State win 13 straight games for a new school record. But history repeated itself Saturday for them.

For once again, the headlines told of a highly touted quarter-back coming to town who would give the Penn

State defense fits. In fact, some were even talking about Colorado's Bobby Anderson as an All-American quarterback of 1969.

But once again the dust has settled, and once again that band of one-time sophomores turned seniors — joined by another guy named Mike Reid who had to sit out the 1967 season because of an injury — was very impressive.

Penn State not only beat Colorado 27-3, but its defense completely throttled Anderson, holding him to just four yards on the ground and intercepting three of his passes in the first quarter to destroy his passing game before he even got it started.

"I think this was the greatest defensive unit I've ever played against," said Anderson, who managed to complete just eight of 26 passes for 81 yards.

"Our coaches told me I would have no more than three seconds to set up and throw. After that I could expect Reid or Smear on my back. That Reid is something. He nearly tore off my head once."

"What makes Penn State's defense so tough is they are so strong all the way down the line," Anderson went on. "The deployment of their linebackers bothered me. One of them always seemed to be right in the pass route. I've never had a day like this before."

Then, almost as an afterthought, he added rather dejectedly: "How do I like playing against Penn State? It's pretty discouraging."

The Intramural Basketball League began its fall term schedule October 8th at the Jewish Community Center. Mr. Bobby, who was instrumental in organizing the league, is to be commended for the interest and work that he has given to the athletic programs at the Hazleton Campus.

Teams

1. ?
2. Avengers
3. Party Boys
4. Six-Packs
5. Pussys
6. Winos
7. Phils
8. Hustlers

Schedule

Tuesday, October 21:
(5:00) 2-5 — (6:00) 3-4

Wednesday, October 22:
(5:00) 1-6 — (6:00) 7-5

Tuesday, October 28:
(5:00) 8-4 — (6:00) 2-3

Wednesday, October 29:
(5:00) 1-5 — (6:00) 6-4

Tuesday, November 4:
(5:00) 7-3 — (6:00) 8-2

Wednesday, November 5:
(5:00) 1-4 — (6:00) 5-3

Tuesday, November 11:
(5:00) 6-2 — (6:00) 7-8

Wednesday, November 12:
(5:00) 1-3 — (6:00) 4-2

Tuesday, November 18:
(5:00) 5-8 — (6:00) 6-7

Wednesday, November 19:
(5:00) 1-2 — (6:00) 3-8

Tuesday, November 25:
(5:00) 4-7 — (6:00) 5-6

CLUB NEWS

The Delta Delta Tau Fraternity of the Hazleton Campus was officially organized on Oct. 6. Plans were made to hold a "SPECIAL" business meeting at the home of their advisor, Mr. George Caliva on Oct. 21. For further details contact Don Jacoby, acting president.

The Theta Sigma Pi sorority held an organization meeting on Oct. 2. The girls held their formal initiation on Thursday, Oct. 9. Future plans for sorority include a spaghetti supper, a pizza party, and a hay ride.

The Hazleton Campus History Club held its organization meeting on Oct. 8. The officers were introduced to the new members and future plans were explained. The topic of discussion for the fall term will be the City and Its Problems: Government, Environment, Culture, and Human Problems.

Membership in the Parnassus Honor Society, a branch of the Keystone Honor Society, represents hard work and determination. That hard work and determination is exemplified by their sponsorship of All-University Day. Rich Dino, President of the Society, has organized the trip on the Hazleton Campus. Representatives from the Hazleton Campus will be going to a conference in November. Further plans on this conference are pending.

SHORTER SPORTS

Penn State has its first live State-wide T. V. sports series featuring Coach Joe Paterno each Wednesday night at 8 p.m. The program, called "TV Quarterbacks," will originate at the University's educational station WPSX, University Park. Other stations carrying the program are: WVIA, Scranton-Wilkes-Barre; WLVT, Allentown-Bethlehem; WHYY, Philadelphia; WITF Hershey; WQEX Pittsburg; and WJLN, Erie.

University Park, Pa., Sept. — An eight-team field has been announced for the first annual Penn State Swimming and Diving Relay championships to be held here, Nov. 29. Swimming powers Villanova and Maryland head the list which includes LaSalle, Bucknell, East Carolina, West Virginia, Bethany College and host Penn State.

Trials begin at 8:30 a. m. with the finals scheduled for the afternoon.

The event is being supervised by Lou MacNeill, director of aquatic at Penn State.

SURVEY SHOWS

(Cont'd From Page Two)
report of a year ago.

Male salaries also jumped, ranging from a low of $572-to-614 per month in agriculture and liberal arts to a high of 812-to-835 in engineering and earth and mineral sciences.

Last year the comparable average monthly salaries ranged from $536 and $580 in agriculture and liberal arts to $747 in earth and mineral science and $735 in engineering.

The number of both male and females entering graduate school upon completion of their baccalaureate studies declined from 29 and 19 per cent in 1968 to 27 and 16 per cent in 1969.

However, males entering such careers as the Peace Corps and VISTA jumped from a meager 2 per cent in 1968 to 6 per cent in 1969. Females in that category, perhaps in relation to the percentage not seeking employment, fell from 12 per cent last year to 9 per cent this year.

Only 13 per cent of the male graduates in '69 were still seeking employment as of June compared to 37 per cent of the ladies.