SGA Elections

Candidates State Goals and Objectives

Politics are not usually a pressing campus issue, but the Student Government Association elections are some of the most pressing issues in a student's life here at Highacres. The SGA directs and maintains relations among the student body, the faculty, and the administration; it also appropriates and delegates all the funds allotted to student organizations, and it likewise affects materials and equipment for student use.

Because of the great role the SGA plays in student affairs on campus, the COLLEGIAN sought out the candidates and questioned them regarding their objectives and goals.

The following are their goals, objectives and experience presented to us in recent interviews.

Rolly Loomis and Amy Velenchik are running mates for the offices of President and Vice-president, respectively, of the Student Government Association. They hope to unify the different factions on campus and create a unified and singular campus spirit. They especially hope to work for better relations between the dorm residents and the commuter students, and to create a better understanding among students, faculty and administrators. They hope to achieve these goals by making the SGA a more responsible organization—one that does more than appropriate money.

Rolly has had experience as an interested member of the Student Union Board; he is also Editor-in-chief of the Student Newsletter, CAN I HELP 'YA? and also helped with the recent Walk-a-thon. He and Amy both serve as members of the Faculty Evaluation Committee and the Student Defense League. Amy also served on the Student Standards Board and as a Resident Aid.

On the opposing ticket are Warren Faust and Mark Denke. Warren and Mark both have extensive experience with the workings of the SGA. Warren was elected as a freshman representative in the fall and has served three terms with that organization. Mark also has served on the SGA both as a representative and as its recent Vice-president appointee; Mark has served with that organization for four terms, making a total of seven terms of experience. Both Mark and Warren have served on the Chartering Committee. Mark also hopes to draw from his experience "on the other side of the fence" as President of the Parnassus Chapter of the Keystone Society. He has seen the intricate workings of the organization "both inside and out." He and Warren hope to apply this experience and insight they have gained to finding the solutions to the problems they will be facing next year.

In meeting these problems, they hope to use the SGA appropriations in such a way as to make the money work for the campus; they hope to achieve this by sensible budget appropriations. They also hope to provide students with more interesting diversions on campus. This past year money was lost on these programs; next year Warren and Mark hope to provide MORE programs and to make them pay for themselves as much as is possible. This they hope to achieve by better publicity plans. This idea of sensible business practices will be carried over to all functions of the SGA, but most importantly, these practices are meant to provide more for the student body of Highacres which they hope to serve.

A proposal to change the Senate officers from chairman, vice chairman and secretary to chairman, chairman-elect, past-chairman and secretary was defeated.

Approval was given to a proposal increasing the membership of the Faculty Affairs Committee to 16 with at least one faculty senator from each College at University Park and four from Campuses and Colleges other than University Park.

Under forensic business, Senator Dan P. Silverman called on the Senate Council to meet with the University administration to establish the Senate's role in the current re-evaluation of academic programs.
