

RESIDENCE HALL COUNCIL

The Residence Hall Council (better known as RHC) supervises over all activities for the dormitory students. The president of RHC is Jim Horrex, vice-president-Nelson Thomas, secretary-Monica Sweda, and treasurer-Bert Nothstein. Also on RHC are six governors representing each floor from both the male and female sides of the dormitory. Each governor is elected by their floor and not only represent their floor at RHC meetings, but plans activities for their individual floors.

On September 20, elections were held in the dining hall for choosing three members for each of the four committees that make up RHC. The four committees and their members are as follows:

Foods and Housing: Mark Butler, Randi Herschel, Joyce Ledonne.

Social: Wanda Ault, Mitch Kinstler, Beck Saff.

Arts and Culture: Gary Gray, Jean Hudak, Stephco Hayic
Recreation: Ken Heydt, Cindy Parsons, Joe Zuba.

Foods and Housing committee takes care of all complaints concerning the dorm and dining hall. The social committee plans dances and other such activities, while the Arts and Cultures committee plans movies shown in the dorm and student-teacher rap sessions. The Recreation committee sponsors sports activities. RHC has worked hard to plan many activities for this year, so give them your support.

PROFESSORS PUBLISH BOOK

Two members of the Highacres mathematics department are authors of a new mathematics textbook. Written by Ernest Haeussler and Richard S. Paul, assistant professors of mathematics, the book, entitled "Introductory Mathematical Analysis" is designed for business and economics students.

The book is intended to provide a mathematical foundation, through calculus and matrix algebra, for students enrolled in the business curricula. Topics include marginal revenue, linear regressions, budget equation and equilibrium.

An autographed copy was presented to the Highacres library by the authors and was accepted by Dr. David, director, and Mrs. Mary Ferry, head librarian.
