

Open letter

Dear Students,

As President of the Student Government Association, I would like to welcome you to Highacres and to a new academic life. The SGA recognizes that the primary reason for attending Penn State is to broaden one's horizons, but we are also concerned with a secondary reason--fun and excitement!

The SGA is more than "a bunch of kids" that gathers together every Tuesday. We are here to finance, organize, and support social activities. The SGA sponsors All-U Day, Las Vegas Night, movies, lectures, and more. We also assist other campus organizations in obtaining funds or solving difficulties.

We are here to serve YOU, but there are a few strings attached. We need your support to make Highacres a campus that will grow both academically and socially. If you soon find that there is nothing to divert you and that school is a real bummer, it may be your own fault. Get involved, and you can start on November 2 by attending Las Vegas Night.

If you have any earth-shattering ideas on ways to improve our extra-curricular activities, please contact me, Mark Denke or any SGA member. All we ask is for student support. Please give your cooperation.

Sincerely,

Warren Faust
SGA President

NEW HORIZONS

The New Horizons Literary Magazine, published by the Students for a Creative Society, has begun organization for the 1974 publication. The magazine is an anthology of poetry, short stories, and photography by Highacres students. Linda Gallagher and Dale Walck, co-editors, urge any talented artists to begin their manuscripts immediately. Finished articles may be handed into the editors or Debbie Berger, Donna Baver, John Busher, Maria J. Rovito, or Christie Tito, or bring them to the Publications Office.
