LAS VEGAS NIGHT HELD

On Friday, November 2, the Student Union Building was transformed into the rollicking Club Highacres as students celebrated our annual Las Vegas Night.

The various gambling booths were set-up by the Student Government. Mark Denke, coordinator of the event, announced that approximately 150 students enjoyed the activities and provided the Student Union Board with approximately $110.

As Denke explained, the student paid one dollar at the door and received $2500 in play money and a raffle ticket. He could engage in gambling activities such as craptables, blackjack, the Lucky Wheel and a horse race.

At the end of the evening, raffle tickets could be purchased at $5000 apiece, and redeemed for two tickets to the Steve Miller Concert, or several souvenirs from Las Vegas. The Cowgirls were given assorted records.

Officiating the proceedings were over a dozen lovely cowgirls, barkers, and callers. Keeping a close eye on the festivities were the owners and operators of the Club Highacres--Dean "Double or nothing" McCallus and Everitt "Match-his-bet" Binns.

Mr. Binns expressed appreciations to Mark Denke, Jack Yatsko, RHC, SGA, the Sorority, and everyone who assisted.

Organizations such as the Sorority, the Fraternity, and Parnassus cannot receive allotment because of their limiting membership qualifications. Other organizations did not receive funds because they have not been active in the past few years or did not submit a budget to the SGA. The SGA funds come out of undistributed funds.

Other SGA projects include the establishment of several committees. John Busher, Mike Petresky, and Jack Yatsko will be campus representatives for

ACCOUNTANT SPEAKS

On Thursday, November 1, 1973, the Business and Economics Club of the Pennsylvania State University, Hazleton Campus presented Mr. Arthur Robinson, C.A.A., a chartered accountant from England. Mr. Robinson spoke on the financial management of an English subsidiary (Merck, Sharp, and Dohme, Ltd., Hoddesdon, England) in relationship to the subsidiary's responsibility to the U.S. parent firm, Merck and Company, Inc., Rahway, New Jersey. The meeting was attended by approximately 100 students.

In photo above, Mr. Robinson was presented with a Penn State University Mug by Ms. Joan Hudock, President of the club.
