the Congress will establish a committee to regain the control of this country.

COLLEGIAN: You have accused many people in Washington of being corrupt. These include the members of the Warren Commission, the F.B.I., the C.I.A., and many elected legislators. Do you feel that there is any one in Washington that is not corrupt besides yourself and Richard Sprague?

Lane: It really isn't all that radical to take that position. There was a report signed by the members of the Church committee including Barry Goldwater, Senator Tower of Texas, and they said what I just said. The report said that the F.B.I. deliberately deceived the Warren Commission and "high government officials!" Walter Mondale signed the report. It isn't my language it is an established fact.

There are a number of the members of Congress who are very committed to getting the facts. Congressman Henry Gonzales, Walter Forntroy, are both committed to getting the facts. My confidence in the investigation is not just in Richard Sprague, but I have confidence in the members of that committee. John Anderson of Illinois is I believe, a man of unquestionable integrity. I'm very happy with the members of the committee.

The problem is they might not be allowed to function. If they are then we might have to rewrite the last ten years of American history.

panel called 'Who killed Kennedy?'"

Lane summed up the Warren Commission's investigation in one line, "there was one definite thing that the Warren Commission proved—that Ruby killed Oswald and that was viewed by millions on national television."

Lane then brought the audience up-to-date on what has been happening in Washington concerning the Kennedy assassination in recent months. He said that the U.S. House of Representatives voted 280 to 60 in favor of reopening an investigation into the Kennedy assassination. However, the investigation is now at a standstill because the F.B.I. and C.I.A. have been falsely attempting to discredit the investigations leader, Richard Sprague, according to Jack Anderson, a syndicated newspaper columnist.

Lane closed his speech by issuing a request of the audience. He asked that they sign a mailgram to Thomas

O'Neill asking that the U.S. House of Representatives, "reestablish the Select Committee on Assassinations."

During the questions-answer period that followed the lecture, Lane remarked that there have been 250 deaths threats to date on his life. He also said that at one time, F.B.I. agents followed Lane around the country to hear his speaking engagements. Only once, Lane said, did he ever spot the agents at a lecture. It was at a women's catholic college. The audience except for two people consisted of college girls, priests in their clerical garb, and nuns in their habits. The two people were men wearing trench coats. "I had no trouble spotting them," said Lane.
