Communications

The Highacres Student Government Association has accomplished a number of projects in the past three weeks for the benefit of the campus community and the Commonwealth of Greater Hazleton.

On Saturday, January 22, the Organization of Town Independent Students of the S.G.A. sponsored a bus trip to University Park in order that Highacres students planning to transfer to the University Park campus could see State College apartment and Residence Halls. The S.G.A. funded the trip almost entirely, except for a $.50 fee for each student.

The Highacres Club Advisory Council, which is an S.G.A. coordinated council consisting of representative of each Highacres club and the Student Affairs Cultural Series sponsored the lecture given by Mark Lane on January 19. Many of the Highacres clubs and organizations financially supported the lecture through the S.G.A.'s Highacres Club Advisory Council.

The S.G.A. donated five copies of This Is Luzerne County to the Highacres Library. The book was published by the League of Women Voters.

A Department of Communications has been set up by the S.G.A. to serve several purposes. The Department is providing a service to the campus by sending press releases of major Highacres activities to local radio and television studios. A weekly column entitled "Highacres Happenings" is appearing each Saturday in the

The Hazleton Standard Speaker publicizing news and upcoming events at Highacres. Club and organization officers are urged to submit news and information of upcoming events to Elliot Grossman via his S.G.A. mailbox by Monday of the week is to be publicized.

The Department of Communications serves internal S.G.A. purposes also by publicizing the S.G.A. and its events to

By Dave Kraft

John Page, President of the Residence Hall Council at Highacres, appointed three officers to the R.H.C. at the December 20 R.H.C. meeting. Page appointed these officers in response to the R.H.C.'s declaring that the election of November 11 for Vice-President was illegal. The election was declared illegal as a result of a petition submitted to the R.H.C. asking "that the R.H.C. election be declared illegal."

In accordance with the R.H.C. constitution Page appointed Ilsa Loetzbeier, R.H.C. Vice-President. He then appointed Liz Kovacs and Doug Loqua, assistant Vice-President and assistant Treasurer, respectively.

Page said in order to eliminate any further problems, "R.H.C. decided to fulfill their goals and will rewrite the constitution of R.H.C."

A preliminary outline of the revisions has been made and a committee has been formed to correct and adjust the various controversial flaws in the constitution. When the corrections are complete, the revised form will be analyzed and approved by a majority R.H.C. vote. Page said no problems are expected in the immediate future concerning the issue of unconstitutional elections.

Tentative additions proposed by Page include that "the President shall be a voting member of the S.G.A. and he shall be an ex-officio member of the Student Union Board. He shall preside with the Vice President over all R.H.C. elections."

! Exciting New Contest !

Editors Note: Since it appears that the buildings at Highacres have been destined to eternally bear their respective redundant and ridiculous names, The Board of Directors of The Highacres Collegian thought it would be fitting to give at least one permanent edifice on this campus a name with a bit of class and charm.

The Board of Directors of THE HIGHACRES COLLEGIAN is pleased to announce its

'Name The Fireplug' Contest

The fireplug that we want to give a name is the popular, beloved red and yellow one located between the lower staff parking lot and the Library. The contest is open to all students, administration, faculty, and staff members. Entries should be written on a 3" X 5" index card, sealed in an envelope, and placed in the COLLEGIAN mailbox in the S.G.A. office by February 9. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of originality, creativity, and suitability. First prize is a week no-expense paid trip to Drums. Second prize is a two week no-expense paid trip to Drums. Winners will be announced in the next issue of THE HIGHACRES COLLEGIAN.
