An overwhelmingly large turnout characterized the April 1 S.G.A. election. 370 students voted in the election to elect the 1977-78 academic year S.G.A. President, Vice-President, and three Student Senators. This number is a substantial increase over previous elections.

Nancy Klotsko and James Ferry were the victors respectively for President and Vice-President.

"My goal for next year," said Klotsko, "will be to try to make students aware of what is happening on this campus by increasing communications and working on projects that affect the students both directly and indirectly."

Vice-President elect Ferry said, "I want to increase communications between the students and the administration, faculty, and S.G.A."

Klotsko and Ferry take office on May 12 at The Awards frequent. Mark Dworsky and Robert Dougherty; Mike "Redeye" Shira and Terry McFadden also ran for President and Vice-President respectively.

In the S.G.A. senatorial race, six students competed for three positions with the winners being Gerry Russell, Thomas Sist, and Paul Sullivan.

In referring to his goals as a Senator, Russell said, "...to represent fairly the student body and to work with both faculty and students in order to create a situation in which we can rectify some of the problems at this campus."

"I would like to see people involved in activities here on campus," said Sist, "and keep in touch with the student body in order to find their views and represent their ideas in student government."

Paul Sullivan said, "...to get the student body informed and participating in school affairs at Highacres."

Nine members of the Highacres Speleology (Cave) Club traveled to Shippensburg on March 27 to explore Carnegie Cave. For a period of four hours these adventurers experienced darkness and low temperatures as they entered the cave to "see what was down there."

During the expedition, club members ventured through narrow passages and swam through deep waters. An attempted "fish hunt" by Ron Cunifer, club member proved to be unsuccessful. The group discovered many rock formations such as stalactites, stalagmites, rimstone dams, "rice paddies", and popcorn. After eating a large lunch, the club hiked along a mountain ridge and located five of six other caves to be found in the area.

The club is particularly interested in exploring two of these caves more thoroughly in the future. Plans are also being made to initiate a long term research project to study Carnegie Cave.

The snow has finally melted at Hazleton, and the Highacres campus is buzzing with Spring excitement and activity. To add to the increased spirit of the season, the RHC has planned many activities to provide an outlet by which students can channel their energy.

RHC held a dance on April 16, which was co-sponsored with SUB. The dance-concert was held outdoors, behind the Residence Hall. The featured group was "The Intrigues", a group accustomed to playing at University Park. They played a wide variety of music, ranging from a beer-barrel polka to the Beatles and disco. The group was well received despite the cool evening.

Spring Clean-Up was held on April 20 and 21 to try to beautify the area around the dorm. Several students pitched in and helped pick up old cans, papers, bottles, and other refuse. RHC would like to thank those who helped to make this campus look better for everyone.

RHC sponsored a group excursion on April 22 to Philadelphia for "College Night" at Veteran Stadium. The group enjoyed an exciting game between the Philadelphia Phillies and the St. Louis Cardinals. The trip was termed a success and other such trips may be planned for the future.

Three members of RHC attended a leadership conference at Split Rock Lodge in the Poconos on April 23 and 24. The event was sponsored
