keep on walking

This past Sunday, April 29th at approximately 6:45 a.m., thirty sleepy eyed Penn State students met in the lobby of the Residence Hall to start a long day's work. The Walk-A-Thon was held Sunday after approximately two months of planning took place. The many Penn State students who donated their valuable time to man checkpoints and work as traffic controllers were, John Shedleski, Jeanne Beam, Joe Borschak, Jeff Carson, Donna Ditty, Randine Matthews, Liz Gleason, Don Green, Joanne Kulp, Megan Kresge, Lucy

Black, Jill Moody, Joanne Moerschbacher, Sue Novak, Kevin Phillips, Bill Snyder, Rob Tacker, C.J. Staudenmiere and Larry Mancini. Three Penn State students also worked the day delivering supplies to different locations, the fruitmen were Royce McMahon, Jim Goodin and Joe Zuk. Keler Taylor was in charge of communications, and coordinated messages between checkpoints and vehicles. Thru the whole affair our advisor, Ev Binns, was there to help and advise us where ever possible. All workers of the Walk-A-Thon received a tee-shirt, the tee-shirts were donated by various businesses in the area and Mrs. Brenda Binns helped us to letter all the tee-shirts with the inscription "March of Dimes Superwalk Hazleton 79."

Many other community organizations helped with the manpower of the Walk-A-Thon they were as follows: the Anthracite Repeater Association, The West Hazleton Police Department, the Hazleton Police Department, Hazleton Ambulance Association.

The day of the walk the weather was excellent and by the end of the walk, many walkers, had red faces because of the brilliance of the sun.

I hope that all of the freshmen who participated this year had an enjoyable day and would seriously considered helping to coordinate next year's Walk-A-Thon.

Thanks once again to all those who were involved and donated their time.
